European Union Governance in Central Asia

A Sectoral Approach

Edited By Agha Bayramov, Marek Neuman

The edited volume attempts to critically approach EU-Central Asian relations, asking whether – when adopting a more sectoral governance approach – the EU's transformative power vis-à-vis the region is greater than initially argued and if so, under what conditions it flourishes most. It assesses whether, through adopting a sectoral approach to the area of, development, infrastructure, water management, security, climate change, energy, trade, health, education, or any other element defining EU-Central Asian relations, the European Union is able to (co-)shape this geopolitically strategic region.

A 'Social Turn' in the European Union?

New trends and ideas about social convergence in Europe

Edited by Jacek Kubera, Tomasz Morozowski

Social Europe is a key topic in the construction of the EU and its institutions. This volume examines the current state of, and perspectives for, Social Europe, as well as key issues in European social policy, including the posting of workers, the impact of the free market and regulations on social convergence, work automation, digitalisation, taxation and democracy in the workplace. The aim of this volume is to identify a course to be followed in integrating the EU's social policies and point to areas in which co-operation between member states is likely to produce best results.

A Dictionary of Globalization

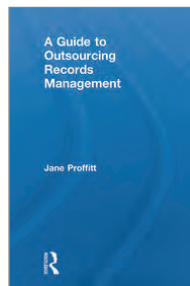

Jens-Uwe Wunderlich Aston University, UK, Meera Warriar

With the proliferation of communications and the rise of the multi-national corporation, the concept of globalization is vitally important to the modern political environment. The structure of the modern economy, based on information production and diffusion, has made national boundaries largely irrelevant. A Dictionary of Globalization explains theories, philosophies and ideologies, and includes short biographies of leading activists, theorists and thinkers such as Noam Chomsky, Karl Marx and José Bové. Concepts, issues and terms key to the understanding of globalization also have clear and concise definitions, including Democracy, Civil Society, Non-Governmental Organizations and Ethnicity.

A Guide to Outsourcing Records Management

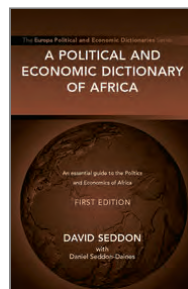

Jane Proffitt

Outsourcing is a global phenomenon that has enjoyed rapid growth over recent years, evidenced by the proliferation of outsourcing service providers in all areas of business. The concept centres on businesses and organizations divesting themselves of essential, but non-core, business activities and, properly managed, can realize considerable cost and other benefits for both the service provider and the outsourcing client. This book is a distillation of the outsourcing process, and is derived from detailed and wide-ranging research of the subject, but contextualised to cater for the records management environment. Outsourcing is not, however, necessarily the way ahead for every organization or business. The process of determining whether the concept is feasible, cost-effective and beneficial is complex and should not be entered into lightly. The price of failure is high and, for that reason, any outsourcing initiative demands robust project management skills, strong

Advances in Geoeconomics

Edited by J Mark Munoz

While geopolitics has captured global attention, geoeconomics is the often hidden force that governs countries' relationships. It studies the intersection of economic factors, relationships and conditions on global events, and how they impact on individuals, companies and future economic stability. This book assembles leading experts from around the world to advance current thinking on geoeconomics. It is an authoritative reference work that aims to shape strategy formulation in business and government by expanding understanding on geoeconomics, analyzing the international implications, and providing the reader with theoretical and practical approaches on the management of

Argentina's Economic Reforms of the 1990s in Contemporary and Historical Perspective

Domingo Cavallo, Sonia Cavallo Runde

Series: Europa Emerging Economies

Why has Argentina suffered so much political and economic instability? How could Argentina, once one of the wealthiest countries in the world, failed to meet its potential over decades? What lessons can we take from Argentina's successes and failures? Argentina's economic history can only be explained in the context of conflicts of interest, of politics, war and peace, boom and bust. It is intertwined with ideological struggles over the ideal society. The book comprises a full economic history of Argentina from the Spanish colonial period to 1990, followed by a narrative by Domingo Cavallo on the last 25 years of reform and counter reform

Assessing Information Needs in the Age of the Digital Consumer

David Nicholas, Eti Herman

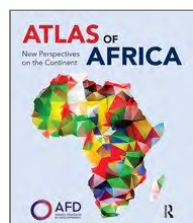

Aiming at ensuring that everyone obtains the rich rewards available in today's information-centred society, this book seeks to provide a systematic method for the understanding, appreciation and evaluation of information needs, which alone can guarantee the value of information to the consumer. Based on the insights gained from research projects involving hundreds of thousands of people, it sets out to provide a framework for information needs analysis. The book is written both for librarians, publishers, archivists, records managers, journalists and other information professionals and for individual information consumers, to enable them better to meet their own information needs.

Australia's Refugee Politics in the 21st Century

STOP THE BOATS!

Kim Huynh

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

This book sets out the key political events and arguments for and against Australia's assurance that anyone who comes without permission will never be able to stay. It examines the impact of this commitment on regional and international relations, on those who seek refuge in Australia, and on those who call it 'home'. This volume serves as a valuable political history and analysis for scholars, policymakers, students, journalists, and anyone who is interested in questions of contemporary exclusion and belonging, including boatpeople.

Beyond the Drug War in Mexico

Human rights, the public sphere and justice

Edited by Wil G. Pansters, Benjamin T. Smith, Peter Watt

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

This volume aims to go beyond the study of Mexico's criminal world and its relationship with the state. It focuses instead on the nature and consequences of the 'totalization of the drug war', and its projection on other domains which are key to understanding the nature of Mexican democracy. It examines the persistent militarization of the drug war and its consequences for human rights and the rule of law, together with the functioning of freedom of expression, and hence democracy, in a climate of violence, and crucially, on how ordinary people engage with the effects of violence and insecurity within their communities.

Bolivia: Geopolitics of a Landlocked State

Ronald Bruce St John

Bolivia: Geopolitics of a Landlocked State goes beyond the traditional focus on inter-American relations, territorial issues and the maritime question to provide the first comprehensive study of Bolivian foreign policy from independence to the present day. It aims to redress the balance between the overstated importance of external determinants – actors and forces outside Bolivia which have influenced the foreign policy process – and the understated impact of internal determinants, similar actors and forces within Bolivia.

Catalonia, Scotland and the EU:

Visions of Independence and Integration

Niklas Bremberg, Richard Gillespie

Series: Europa Regional Perspectives

The electoral success of secessionist parties in Catalonia and Scotland over the last decade, together with Brexit and the support for Eurosceptic parties in many EU member states, have prompted a rethink of many taken-for-granted notions about politics in Spain, the UK and the EU. Secessionist parties in Catalonia and Scotland often combine calls for independence with support for the EU and this short volume aims to contribute to debates on, and advance knowledge of, visions of independence and integration, how they interrelate in Europe's emergent political order, and what they entail for European integration and democracy in the EU.

Catalonia: A New Independent State in Europe?

A Debate on Secession within the European Union

Edited by Xavier Cuadras Morató

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

This title takes on the main issues of the political process which is taking place in Catalonia today. There are no precedents of a secession of a region from an EU member country that could be applied to the case of Catalonia. Therefore it is not surprising that the world has many unanswered questions about the whole process, such as: is this new situation only temporary and support for independence is likely to vanish very soon? What's the role of the economic crisis in Catalonia and Spain? Is the new Catalan state economically viable? Will an independent Catalonia be a member of the European Union? This title gives answers to many of these questions in a systematic and rigorous way.

Central Asia's Economic Rebirth in the Shadow of the New Great Game

Djoomart Otorbaev

Series: Europa Regional Perspectives

The volume brings to light development of Central Asia as defined by its landlocked geography. Particular attention is also paid to achievements and challenges of the region's post-Soviet economic and political transformation, as well as to its relationship with the participants in the New Great Game. It raises questions pertaining to Eurasian powers that circle central asia; how will this affect the region? Will Central Asia join the powerful locomotive of history, or will it remain on the sidelines?

China and the Middle East

From Silk Road to Arab Spring

Muhamad S. Olimat Khalifa University of Science, Technology and Research (KUSTAR) in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates.

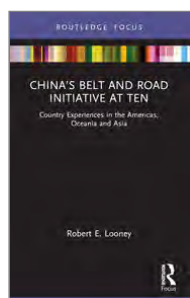

This title examines relations between China and the Middle East in historical context. It highlights some of the most important events that characterize the ties between China and the Middle East, and examines their relationship in key areas that include energy, trade, arms sales, culture and politics. It offers an in-depth analysis of Chinese-Middle Eastern relations, assists students and scholars in understanding the uniqueness of the Chinese model of engagement in the Middle East, explains why many in the Middle East prefer China's engagement model to the Western one, and explores the future of Sino-Middle Eastern relations.

China's Belt and Road Initiative at Ten

Country Experiences in the Americas, Oceania and Asia

Robert Looney

Series: Europa Introduction to...

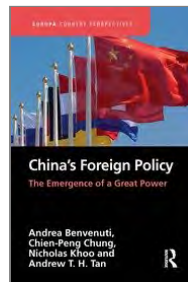

This volume assesses China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) as it approaches its tenth year in operation. The programme has gone through a difficult transition since its inception in 2013, with an environment developing in a way utterly unanticipated by Chinese decision-makers. Despite pragmatic adjustments to the BRI, the lack of a firm empirical base has impeded the BRI and led to its demise in many countries.

China's Foreign Policy

The Emergence of a Great Power

Andrea Benvenuti, Chien-Peng Chung, Nicholas Khoo, Andrew Tan

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

This book explains China's foreign policy of its historical recovery after 1949 and the country's subsequent rise as a great power, including its transformation into a global power. It illuminates how China has, in tandem with its rise, developed an increasing array of political, economic, 'sharp power' and military capabilities that is helping it to further its increasingly expansive foreign policy objectives. The volume examines two key questions: What have been the implications of China's rise for its foreign policy? And how has an increasingly powerful and confident China used a range of foreign policy instruments to pursue its expanding national interests in Asia and beyond?

China's Strategic Interests in the South China Sea

Power and Resources

Sigfrido Burgos Cáceres

This title will explore China's strategic interests in the South China Sea, with a specific emphasis on power projection and resource security. China's regional actions and reactions are reshaping the power dynamics in East and South-East Asia, while economic and geopolitical futures depend on the variegated outcomes of these complex relationships with neighbours and the West. An introductory section will be complemented by four case studies (Japan, Vietnam, the USA and the Philippines) and the concluding chapter will discuss the importance of the South China Sea to China as its new leadership deals with growing economic and military might.

Communist Parties in the Middle East

100 Years of History

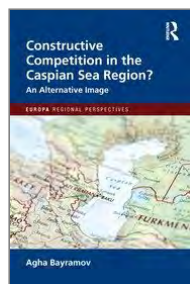

Edited by Laura Feliu, Ferran Izquierdo Brichs

One hundred years since the Russian Revolution, Communist parties have undergone great changes, in an evolution that has affected the entire Left and the social movements. The impact of Communist parties and their evolution in the Middle East is a topic that has not been widely researched. This book aims to cover a century in the lives of these parties, from the moment the Communist ideology first reached the region in the early 20th century, right up to the upheaval caused by the dissolution of the USSR and, more recently, the Arab Spring. It has been designed to offer a unique, updated and comprehensive study of Communist parties in the Middle East.

Constructive Competition in the Caspian Sea Region

Agha Bayramov

Series: Europa Regional Perspectives

This book portrays a new image of the Caspian Sea region, which still acknowledges the difficulties and problematic starting situation of power politics in the region. Drawing on theoretical insights from functionalist framework, it examines three intertwined case studies, namely the Baku-Tbilisi-Ceyhan pipeline (BTC), the Southern Gas Corridor (SGC) and the Caspian Environmental Program (CEP). It analyzes the three phases of the BTC and the SGC projects: planning of the pipeline, construction of the pipeline, and the use of the pipeline, none of which have been adequately addressed yet and illustrates the increasing role of actors beyond and besides states.

Contesting Spain? The Dynamics of Nationalist Movements in Catalonia and the Basque Country

Edited by Richard Gillespie Liverpool University, UK,
Caroline Gray

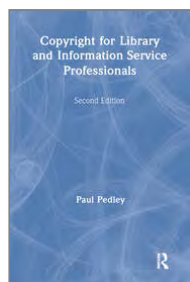

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

Contesting Spain? The Dynamics of Nationalist Movements in Catalonia and the Basque Country offers an exploration of the dynamics behind contemporary shifts in the orientation of nationalist parties and movements with reference to Catalonia and the Basque country in Spain. The chapters were originally papers presented at the Barcelona Centre for International Affairs as part of a research project on The Dynamics of Nationalist Evolution in Contemporary Spain, whose purpose was to gain an understanding of why regionally-based nationalist movements have experienced shifting relationships with the Spanish state.

Copyright for Library and Information Service Professionals

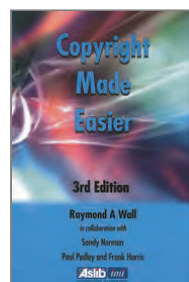

Paul Pedley

This practical guide is aimed specifically at information professionals who are often those responsible for copyright compliance in their organisation. Copyright infringement can carry both civil and criminal penalties, making it essential for those responsible to get it right. This new edition has been updated to take account of recent developments concerning Crown copyright, and the proposed EC Directive on harmonising certain aspects of copyright and related rights. There is a new chapter on licensing agreements for electronic information, and an updated list of useful organisations.

Copyright Made Easier

Frank Harris, Paul Pedley, Raymond A Wall, Sandy Norman

This title is a clear and detailed account of the law and practice of copyright, explained in a user-friendly manner. Coverage includes changes in licensing developments and electronic copyright progress, and updates arising from EU harmonisation of copyright law. There is also information on design right and copyright-related rights such as recording and performing rights. A glossary of terms and an index help to make this a key reference guide to a notoriously complex area of information management.

Cyprus 1974: Anatomy of an Invasion

Vassilis Fouskas University of Stirling, UK, William Mallinson

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

The volume details the role of CIA agents in Greece and the machinations of the Greek junta of Demetrios Ioannides to overthrow the charismatic leader of Cyprus, Archbishop Makarios, who had been fighting for an independent and non-aligned Cyprus. It also explains how the partition of Cyprus in 1974 has opened up prospects for the partition of the Aegean Sea between Greece and Turkey, with Greece's eastern Aegean islands becoming 'NATOLands' in the service of the war against Russia. The volume is an essential read for researchers and students in the history and politics of Cyprus, Greece, Turkey and south-eastern Europe.

Darfur's Political Economy

A Quest for Development

Edited by Hamid Ali

Darfur is a vast region endowed with limited and unexplored natural resources, poor infrastructure, and lack of major development projects, and identifying its economic and human development needs brings us closer to finding ways to alleviate its human suffering and environmental stress. Presenting a broad spectrum of analytical perspectives from experts on the region, this title discusses the political economy of Darfur and explores the causes behind the current humanitarian and political crisis. This book is a valuable resource for academics, students, researchers and policy-makers with an interest in the region and in the wider fields of political economy and conflict studies.

Deficit Politics in the United States

Taxes, Spending and Fiscal Disconnect

Dennis Ippolito Southern Methodist University, USA.

Series: Europa Economic Perspectives

From the clashes between Federalists and Republicans in the 1790s until today, partisan battles over taxing, spending, and public debt have shaped American political development. These battles were formerly constrained by fiscal norms that mandated balanced budgets and low debt. In his Farewell Address, President George Washington counseled the nation to "cherish public credit" by using "it as sparingly as possible".

Economic Crisis in Europe

Causes, Consequences and Responses

Edited by Paul van den Noord , István Székely

Series: European Union Information Series

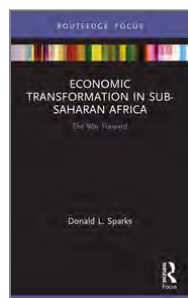

The European economy is emerging from its deepest recession since the 1930s. This volume, which brings together economic analysis from the European Commission services, explains how swift policy response avoided a financial meltdown. Europe also needs an improved co-ordinated crisis-management framework to help it respond to any similar situations that may arise in the future. Economic Crisis in Europe is a much-anticipated volume which shows that the beginnings of such a crisis-management framework are emerging, building on existing institutions and legislation and complemented by new initiatives.

Series: Europa Introduction to...

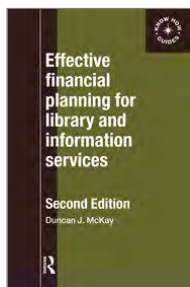

This volume begins by examining recent economic developments and trends. It then looks at the major economic constraints the region has faced in recent years, breaking down those constraints as either 'external' (e.g. terms of trade) over which the individual countries have but limited control, or 'internal' (e.g. governance and economic policy), over which there is more control. The book concludes by arguing that, despite the notable challenges cited above, sub-Saharan Africa is poised for a transformation, based on closer regional economic co-operation, a growing middle class, increased demand for locally produced goods and services, and a young population.

Elections, Violence and Transitional Justice in Africa

Edited by Elias Opongo , Tim Murithi

Series: Europa Perspectives in Transitional Justice

This book interrogates the potential intersection between transitional justice and electoral processes. It examines the hypothesis that transitional justice interventions that strive to address historical injustices perpetrated by violence, conflict and entrenched by socio-political impunity, can initiate preventive measures against electoral violence through redress, accountability and institutional reforms. It examines country case studies from across Africa, while examining the intersection between transitional justice and electoral processes. Hence, this is a timely volume highlighting the uninterrogated nexus between elections, violence and transitional justice in Africa.

Electoral Politics in Sri Lanka

Presidential Elections, Manipulation and Democracy

S. L. Keethaponcalan

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

This volume analyses the manipulation of electoral politics in Sri Lanka. Primary and secondary data formed the basis of the analysis, examining eight presidential elections. Through an examination of recent presidential elections, research discovered that elections are often associated with violence; presidential elections are a majoritarian affair where minority communities play a marginal role; there is a significant gender imbalance, as women's participation in the electoral process is limited; in spite of the presence of a large number of candidates contesting the election, it always remains a two-way race; and amidst extensive manipulation, voter participation tends to be high.

Euro-Caribbean Societies in the 21st Century

Offshore finance, local élites and contentious politics

Edited by Sébastien Chauvin, Peter Clegg, Bruno Cousin

This volume examines political, economic and social change, and inter-group relations in the European islands of the Caribbean over the last decade, addressing the major institutional transformations of recent years, together with the openness of to global economic transformations, the roles of the local elites, and the current dynamics of inequality. Between colonial heritage and global changes, this book examines the agency of local actors and the ways in which they participate in global dynamics. It also analyzes the local effects of the global economic crisis.

External Powers in Latin America

Geopolitics between Neo-extractivism and South-South Cooperation

Edited by Gian Luca Gardini

Series: Europa Regional Perspectives

This book examines the role of external powers in Latin America in the 21st century. Non-traditional partners have significantly increased their political and economic engagement with the continent. The volume examines five key questions: why has this surge taken place, when has it happened, in which regions and sectors is it mostly felt, what is the Latin American perspective, and what are the actual results through an analysis of 16 case studies and places them in context and proposes a more multifaceted approach, stressing a combination of systemic factors and internal dynamics both in Latin America and in the external partner countries.

Freedom of Information

Open Access, Empty Archives?

Edited by Andrew Flinn University College London, UK,
Harriet Jones University of London, UK

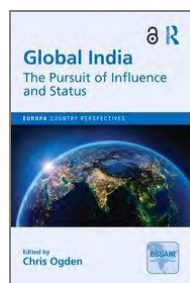

The Freedom of Information (FOI) Act has been broadly welcomed by contemporary British historians as a means of increasing access to public records within the thirty-year rule. But the benefits of this formal commitment to open government are untested, and experiences in other countries with FOI or Access to Information legislation have raised a number of shared problems and concerns. This volume will be the first to compare and reflect upon both the successes and difficulties of FOI across the world. Written by an international mixture of senior archivists and historians, it will appeal across the disciplines of history and archive studies.

Global India

The Pursuit of Influence and Status

Edited by Chris Ogden

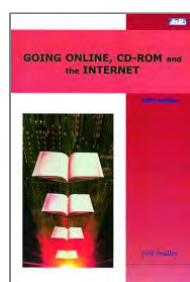

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

India's contemporary rise to prominence will significantly impact upon geopolitics in the coming decades and is a key pillar in the widely anticipated Asian 21st century. As India's stature continues to increase across Asia and the world, appreciating which interests and principles structure her international interaction has never been more important. Focusing upon the country's contemporary emergence as an economic, military and now diplomatic powerhouse, this Edited Book rigorously and informatively sets out the core - and wide-ranging - elements, relationships and challenges essential to conceptualising and analysing this rise.

Greece in the 21st Century

The Politics and Economics of a Crisis

Edited by Vassilis Fouskas, Constantine Dimoulas

For most of the first part of the 21st century Greece has been seen as a critical battlefield for the survival of the powerful, as if all the historical contradictions of the global financial crisis and the Eurozone crisis were concentrated in that tiny part of the world. The editors have assembled in this volume a number of interdisciplinary chapters and arguments which, despite their differences, share the strategic aim of a critique of both neoliberalism/ordoliberalism and new authoritarianism. Chapters examine the Eurozone crisis from a variety of angles with reference to Greece, and Greek politics and society, offering a progressive understanding of current historical circumstances.

Haiti: From Revolutionary Slaves to Powerless Citizens

Essays on the Politics and Economics of Underdevelopment, 1804-2013

Alex Dupuy Wesleyan University

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

This title focuses on Haiti from an international perspective. Haiti has endured undue influence from successive French and US governments; its fragile 'democracy' has been founded on subordination to and dominance of foreign powers. This book examines Haiti's position within the global economic and political order, and how the more dominant members of the international community have, in varying ways, exploited the country over the last 200 years.

Handbook of Africa's International Relations

Edited by Tim Murithi

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

Africa's international relations have often been defined and oriented by the dominant international and geopolitical agendas of the day. In the aftermath of colonialism, the Cold War became a dominant paradigm that defined the nature of the continent's relationship with the rest of the world. The contemporary forces of globalization are now exerting an undue influence and impact upon Africa's international relations. This timely book proposes to analyse current themes in Africa's international relations by engaging with a wide range of issues, with chapters written by experts in the field.

Handbook of Caribbean Economies

Edited by Robert Looney

This volume aims to illustrate the uniqueness of the economies of the countries and territories of the Caribbean as well as the similarities they share with other regions. While most countries in the region share many of the characteristics of middle-income countries, theirs is a matter of extremes. Their generally small size suggests a fragility not found elsewhere. While much of the world is beginning to feel some effects of climate change, the Caribbean is ground zero. These factors suggest a difficult road ahead, but the chapters presented in this volume aim to help spur the search for creative solutions to the region's problems.

Handbook of China's Governance and Domestic Politics

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

This Handbook provides an in-depth overview of how China is governed, how its domestic political system functions and the critical issues that it currently faces. China is undergoing a transitional period of rapid economic and social development. How this period is managed will have significant implications for the Chinese state and its population concerning China's governance structures and economy, as well as the country's justice, public health, education and internal/external security concerns. Many of the core internal issues facing China also have potential external repercussions. This book aims to cover these issues and will help readers to fully comprehend China's ongoing contemporary global significance.

Handbook of Civil Society and Social Movements in Small States

Edited by Lino Briguglio University of Malta, Michael Briguglio, Sheila Bunwaree University of Mauritius, Claire Slatter University of the South Pacific

Series: Europa International Perspectives

Handbook of Civil Society and Social Movements in Small States depicts the way civil society encompasses social movements, which are considered to be loosely organized collective campaigns in pursuit of social goals. It deals with particular characteristics of small states, including limited ability to reap the benefits of economies of scale, high degree of exposure to forces outside their control, and the proximity of politicians to the voters, often leading to clientelistic relationships and patronage networks.

Handbook of Governance in Small States

Edited by Lino Briguglio, Jessica Byron, Stefano Moncada, Wouter Veenendaal

This volume covers a wide spectrum of governance issues relating to small states in a global context. What emerges from the book is that the societies of small states are being re-shaped by various forces outside their control, including the globalization process and climate change, rendering their governance ever more complex. These problems are not solely faced by small states, but small country size tends to lead to a higher degree of exposure to external factors. The chapters are grouped into four sections broadly covering political, environmental, social and economic governance.

Handbook of Indigenous Peoples' Rights

Edited by Corinne Lennox, Damien Short University of London, UK

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

This handbook is a comprehensive interdisciplinary overview of indigenous peoples' rights. Chapters by subject experts will examine legal, philosophical, sociological and political issues, addressing a wide range of themes at the heart of debates on the rights of indigenous peoples. The book will address not only the major questions, such as 'Who are indigenous peoples? What is distinctive about their rights? How are their rights constructed and protected? What is the relationship between national indigenous rights regimes and international norms?' but also themes such as culture, identity, genocide, globalization and development, and the environment.

Handbook of Information Management

Edited by Alison Scammell

This is effectively the eighth edition of Aslib's flagship reference work, Handbook of Special Librarianship and Information Work, which has provided the seminal text on modern information theory, practice, and procedure since 1957. Scammell draws on a substantial background of research and best practice to provide a pragmatic approach to information management in the workplace. This volume covers strategic, legal, management, and marketing issues and highlights the importance of new web-based delivery mechanisms. It includes contributions from outside the UK, mirroring the global nature of information management.

Handbook of International Trade Agreements

Country, regional and global approaches

Edited by Robert E. Looney

Recent years have seen a significant slow-down in global trade. Because historical evidence shows a clear link between trade liberalization and higher GDP growth, concerns for the health of the global economic system are growing. Signs of increased protectionism are raising fears of a prolonged period of de-globalization, accompanied by stagnant global economic growth. The Handbook will provide an assessment of the major preferential trade agreements and RTAs around the world.

Handbook of Land and Water Grabs in Africa

Foreign direct investment and food and water security

John Anthony Allan, Martin Keulertz, Suvi Sojamo, Jeroen Warner

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

This handbook is the first to address inward investment in land and its impact on water resources in Africa, where land has attracted the attention of risk-taking investors. The successful implementation of investment strategies in African agriculture could determine the future of more than one billion people at risk from climate change, population growth and food insecurity. Other themes the contributors address include livelihoods, politics, economics, environment and the history of land investments in sub-Saharan Africa.

Handbook of Nuclear Proliferation

Edited by Harsh V Pant

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

This new Routledge title sheds light on the diverse themes surrounding this very important issue area in international security. Readers will benefit from six major sections, each addressing an aspect of nuclear proliferation that is critical in determining the future trajectory of global politics. For example, why are we witnessing a move away from non-proliferation to counter-proliferation? There are case studies examining nuclear policies of the five established nuclear powers: the USA, Russia, the United Kingdom, France and the People's Republic of China. The book also examines the present state of the global nuclear non-proliferation regime, which most observers agree is currently facing a crisis of credibility.

Handbook of Oil Politics

Edited by Robert Looney Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, California, USA

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

To many, oil markets and their linkages to a whole spectrum of events remain something of a mystery. Unfortunately, most of the easily obtained information on oil is deeply flawed. Whole web-conspiracy sites depict ruthless insiders and reckless dictators manipulating energy markets at will. The 30 essays in this volume, written by the leading experts in the field, attempt to set the record straight. While their assessments may lack the sensationalism of many popular pundits, serious readers will find their insights invaluable in the years to come in providing a framework for understanding many of the events of the day. The five sections: Politics of Oil Supply, Political Responses, Regional Dimensions, Country Case Studies and Key Issues for the Future give a comprehensive overview of the politics of oil world-wide.

Handbook of Transitions to Energy and Climate Security

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

An original contribution to our understanding of a phenomenon that is reshaping the world, this title discusses the transformation of the energy security policy arena brought on by two dramatic developments – the increased potential availability of energy in many parts of the world on the supply side, and on the demand side increasing concerns over the harmful effects on the environment brought on by the use of fossil fuels. This eight part volume builds on the theme of unfolding energy transformations driven by, but increasingly constrained by climate/environmental considerations, specifically focusing on what energy security means to different countries.

Handbook of Small States

Economic, Social and Environmental Issues

Edited by Lino Briguglio

This handbook covers a wide spectrum of issues relating to small states with chapters grouped under the three main themes of economic, social and environmental issues. The various approaches taken by the authors draw practical policy implications for small states and the book can be considered as a wide-ranging depository of information on small states with the aim of deriving policy prescriptions, and thus as an excellent resource for academics, students and policymakers.

Handbook of South American Governance

Edited by Pia Riggiozzi, Christopher Wylde

This cutting-edge collection examines South America's rich history in the study of global political economy and governance. The Handbook presents the history and evolution of governance, at international, national and issue-based levels, offering new thematic analysis and critically treated empirical evidence of what defines governance in South America. With a focus on both the theoretical underpinnings of governance and key contemporary debates, this Handbook will be relevant for many disciplines, including comparative politics, development and regional studies and international political economy.

How to Manage Records in the E-Environment

Catherine Hare, Julie Mcleod

A practical approach to developing and operating an effective programme to manage hybrid records within an organization. This title positions records management as an integral business function linked to the organization's business aims and objectives. The authors also address the records requirements of new and significant pieces of legislation, such as data protection and freedom of information, as well as exploring strategies for managing electronic records. Bullet points, checklists and examples assist the reader throughout, making this a one-stop resource for information in this area.

Humanitarianism

A Dictionary of Concepts

Edited by Tim Allen , Anna Macdonald , Henry Radice

Humanitarian action has in recent years confronted geopolitical challenges that have upended much of its conventional modus operandi and presented threats to its foundational assumptions and legal frameworks. Humanitarianism: A Dictionary of Concepts provides an authoritative analysis that attempts to rethink, rather than merely problematize or define the issues at stake in contemporary humanitarian debates.

i in the sky

Visions of the Information Future

Edited by Alison Scammell

i in the sky is a collection of essays by over 40 experts, including leading writers Charles Handy and Don Tapscott, giving their personal vision of the future of information. Many of the papers have central themes such as the future of computer intelligence, library and information services, interactive Internet marketing, and networked learning in higher education. Other papers deal with scholarly communication, smart houses and intelligent appliances. Two of the chapters are written as fiction, one by contemporary fantasy writer, Lise Leroux, who paints a menacing vision of human error in a tale of virtual reality.

In the Shadow of Transitional Justice

Cross-national Perspectives on the Transformative Potential of Remembrance

Edited by Guy Elcherroth , Neloufer de Mel

Series: Europa Perspectives in Transitional Justice

This volume bridges two different research fields and the current debates within them. On the one hand, the transitional justice literature has been shaken by powerful calls to make the doctrine and practice of justice more transformative. On the other, collective memory studies now tend to look more closely at meaningful silences to make sense of what nations leave out when they remember their pasts. The book extends the scope of this heuristic approach to the different mechanisms that come under the umbrella of transitional justice, including legal prosecution, truth-seeking and reparations, alongside memorialisation.

Italy's Contemporary Politics

James Newell

This book aims to help the reader understand how Italian politics reached the point where political parties stood as obstacles in the way of resolution of its social and economic problems. It traces the most significant processes of political, economic and social change to have marked Italian history in recent years back to their roots in the Italian political system at the end of the Second World War. Starting with the restoration of democracy, the volume discusses the post-war party system and how it came under increasing pressure from the mid-1970s to the political upheavals of the early 1990s and the transformations they led to and the watershed election of 2018.

Legal Aspects of Trade Finance

Charles Chatterjee University of Wolverhampton

Trade finance is of great importance in the commercial world, for both students and practitioners. The choice of countries in export trade is often perception-based: trade with government departments or public institutions is seen as much safer than with private entities and the choice of countries is often based on that perception of risk. This book addresses issues and topics which are relevant to all jurisdictions in the world and explains the types of trade finance, how they may be raised and the legal issues pertaining to them. Ideal for students studying the interaction between law and commerce and the legal issues of sources of trade finance, in developed and developing of countries.

Mexico under Misplaced Monopolies

Concentrated Wealth and Growing Violence, from the 1980s to the Present

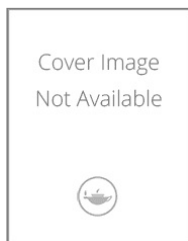

Francisco E. Gonzalez

This book follows Mexico's political economy since the country's adoption of neoliberal economic policies and the gradual opening of the political system that led to democratization (late 1980s-early 1990s). The main tool that helps to frame Mexico's politico-economic trajectory is the identification of changing levels of 'barriers to entry' in the political and the economic spheres. Such barriers to entry help to determine basic levels of freedom – a continuum that encompasses different degrees of physical security and of economic opportunity to develop one's potential.

Poland in the Single Market

Politics, economics, the euro

Edited by Anna Visvizi, Anna Matysek-Jędrzych, Katarzyna Mroczek-Dąbrowska

Poland has been a member of the EU for more than 15 years. During that time, Poland's image within the EU evolved from newcomer, to 'model child', champion of growth, to maverick. This volume's objective is to remind society that Poland's success is an outcome of well-thought over and bold structural reforms implemented in a swift and timely manner, of society's support for these reforms, and of third actors' benign assistance. Looking back on the 30 years since the collapse of communism, and at the 15 years since EU membership, this book offers an interdisciplinary insight into factors and processes that have led to today's Poland.

Political Change in Switzerland

From Stability to Uncertainty

Clive Church

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

This title explains the striking recent internal and external political developments in Switzerland, an important but surprisingly little known and often misunderstood country, aiming to dissipate prevailing myths about Switzerland in its European context. It analyses the way the practice and processes of Swiss politics have so dramatically changed over the last 25 years, setting out the differences between outside perceptions and changing Swiss realities. It discusses how far the country has moved, from the stability of the post war period to a new era of uncertainty. It analyses how much of this change is related to Europe, considering the prospects for Switzerland and Europe.

Political Party Dynamics and Democracy in Sweden:

Developments since the 'Golden Age'

Tommy Möller

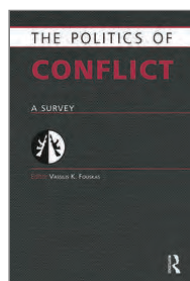

The political landscape in Sweden has undergone a rapid change in recent years. The institutions of the political system – not least political parties – appear from a historical perspective to have become partly dysfunctional. The previously stable party system has become unstable. Consequently, it has become more difficult to form governments and more difficult for governments to govern. The famous culture of consensus has been replaced by a harsher and more confrontational political climate; the tone in political debate has become more aggressive.

Portugal Since the 2008 Economic Crisis

Resilience and Change

Edited by António Costa Pinto University of Lisbon, Portugal

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

The emergence of the "Great Recession" in 2008 had important political, social and economic consequences in southern Europe, with dramatic changes in Greece, Italy, Spain and Portugal. Drawing on the experience of Portugal, this book examines how patterns of political representation, party system, political culture, economic and international relations have changed during this period, and demonstrates that Portugal is a central element in this new cleavage that has been seriously aggravated by Brexit and other elements of crises within the European Union.

Democracy and Reconciliation

S. I. Keethaponcalan

This book examines whether democracy, compared to authoritarianism, is conducive to post-war reconciliation. The research concludes that the Sri Lankan case indicated that post-war reconciliation is more contingent on the readiness of the former enemies to come together. The end of the war profoundly impacted post-war governance and ethnic relations in Sri Lanka. The volume provides an analysis of the factors that led to the government and military victory in 2009 and a comprehensive analysis of the nature of relations between the Muslims, the Tamils and Sinhalese, as well as the nature and causes of post-war anti-Muslim riots.

Reconfiguration of the Global South

Africa and Latin America and the 'Asian Century'

Edited by Eckart Woertz CIDOB (Barcelona Centre for International Affairs), Spain

Series: Europa Regional Perspectives

While the rise of China and other Asian powers has been studied extensively, much less work has been done on how Africa and Latin America position themselves in this process. What will the role be of Africa and Latin America in the 'Asian Century' and associated reconfigurations of global value chains? Will they launch new ways of regional south-south co-operation?

Retailisation

The Here, There and Everywhere of Retail

Francesca de Châtel, Robin Hunt

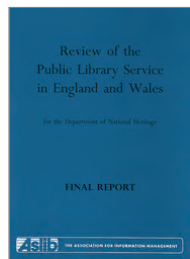

Investigates the current state of selling, whether groceries, politicians, information or motorcars. Unlike any other phenomenon, retailization reflects the complexity and diffusion of information processes and the media in the online market. The authors explore the all-pervasive nature of retail in the physical world, the virtual world and the peripheral spaces in between. Coverage includes: interviews with Asda, MOMA, the Tate Modern, Wal-Mart, Sony, Habitat, Manchester United and Volkswagen, while Bill Mitchell, Dean of Architecture at MIT, architects Jon Jerde, Rem Koolhaas and Ben van Berkel, as well as David Peek are all individually interviewed.

Review of the Public Library Service in England and Wales for the Department of National Heritage

Final Report

Edited by Joyce Line, Maurice B. Line

This in-depth study includes data from nine case study areas which have been subjected to detailed examination. The Review assesses the scope and value of public library services, with a schedule of guidelines and wide-ranging recommendations which lead to a blueprint for services in the new millennium. The Report examines the changing world within which public libraries have to operate; incorporates significant developments in the UK and abroad over the last ten years; analyses the changing and emerging needs of the public; investigates the relationships between local authority services. It is essential reading for everyone who deals with the public library sector.

Romania as an Energy Actor in the EU

Cooperation in European Energy policy

Anca Sinea

The purpose of this book is twofold. First, it aims to explain the general framework for cooperation in the field of energy in Europe, with a conceptual basis that allows for a better understanding of the dynamics that led to its existence. Second, the volume deals with Romania both as a representative case for the region, given the commonalities raised by the transition process in the last three decades, and also as a country with a specific agenda in the field of energy, with implications for internal and foreign policy that can only be perceived and understood in the Romanian context.

Russia in the Middle East and North Africa

Continuity and Change

Edited by Chiara Lovotti, Eleonora Ambrosetti, Christopher Hartwell, Aleksandra Chmielewska

Is Russia's re-engagement in the Middle East and North Africa part of a strategy, or is it mere opportunism? This book examines this question via an analysis of both the historical drivers of Russian interest in the MENA region and the factors underlying current Russian policies. Benefiting from authors with different backgrounds, experiences and origins, this volume unpacks the key aspects that characterize the Russian presence in the area, including national interest, historical ties, economic, political and cultural cooperation, and perceptions of other relevant international actors.

Russian Nationalism and Ethnic Violence

Symbolic Violence, Lynching, Pogrom and Massacre

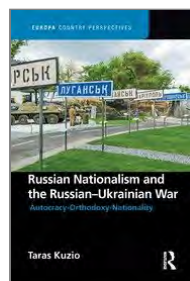

Richard Arnold

Nationalism is now the dominant narrative in Russian politics, and one with genuine popularity in society. Russian Nationalism and Ethnic Violence is a theoretical and empirical study which seeks to break the concept of "ethnic violence" into distinguishable types, examining the key question of why violence within the same conflict takes different forms at certain times and providing empirical insight into the politics of one of the most important countries in the world today. This book will be essential reading for anyone seeking to understand not only why different forms of ethnic violence occur, but also the potential trajectory of Russian politics in the next 20 years.

Russian Nationalism and the Russian-Ukrainian War

Taras Kuzio

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

The volume provides a wealth of detail about Russia's inability, from the Tsarist Empire to now, to accept Ukraine as an independent country and Ukrainians as a separate people, pointing largely to Putin's obsession with Russian national identity. A post-imperial Russian civic identity grounded in the Russian Federation was unpopular and has been dwarfed by a far larger Russian 'imagined community.' Integration of Tsarist Russian historiography and White Russian émigré chauvinism prior to the 2014 crisis transformed and hardened Russian nationalist denial of the existence of Ukraine and Ukrainians.

Security and Conflict in East Asia

Edited by Andrew Tan University of New South Wales, Australia

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

This volume provides a timely and comprehensive analysis of the sources and implications of conflict on the Korean peninsula and in the People's Republic of China and Japan, the three biggest economies in the world. This analysis provides the building blocks for effective solutions to manage these tensions more effectively, and is a vital resource to those seeking a clearer understanding of sources of conflict and its implications in the most pivotal region in the world. The contributing authors are all experts in their respective fields, and all share an abiding concern over developments in East Asia.

Small States and the European Union

Economic Perspectives

Edited by Lino Briguglio University of Malta & Islands and Small States Institute

Series: Europa Economic Perspectives

This title deals with the small states and candidate states of the EU, with a focus on their economic structure and performance, and the impact of EU membership (past, actual and potential) on the economy. The small states to be covered are those with a population of 3 million or less, namely: Cyprus, Estonia, Iceland, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta and Slovenia. It adds to the literature on the EU, on regional integration generally and on small states. It delves into the special constraints of small economic size, and examines why and how the small states of Europe manage to compete, albeit not without difficulty, with the larger states in the block, where free trade prevails.

Social Welfare Issues in Southern Europe

Edited by Maria Brown, Michael Briguglio

Series: Europa Regional Perspectives

This volume is the first of its kind to discuss social welfare issues using case studies from a broad range of Southern European countries, both large and small, a decade after the financial crisis. It identifies similarities and differences in the ways in which Southern European countries engage with specific welfare issues and examines whether Southern European welfare is distinct from that of the rest of the continent. The book also engages with the impact of COVID-19 on the social welfare issues under investigation.

South Africa's Struggle to Remember

Contested Memories of Squatter Resistance in the Western Cape

Kim Wale Post-doctoral fellow in Trauma, Forgiveness and Reconciliation Studies at the University of the Free State, South Africa.

Series: Europa Perspectives in Transitional Justice

Transitional justice studies typically focuses on how nations remember, face and deal with histories of past violence. However this book shifts the frame from national discourses of transitional justice onto local memory actors attempting to engage with these broader systems of meaning from below. The case study is based on the memory struggles of individuals and groups trying to gain access to the discourses and benefits associated with dominant memory identities of 'victim' and 'veteran' in the context of post-transition South Africa. They share a common history of squatter resistance in the Western Cape in the 1980s and a struggle for inclusion in dominant memory frameworks.

Southern Africa's Blue Economy

Regional Cooperation for Sustained Development

Donald L. Sparks

Series: Europa Introduction to...

Southern Africa's maritime interests are considerable: its oceans and ports are essential to the wealth of the region, are crucial for trade and are an important source of employment, food and energy. Southern Africa's rich coastal and marine resources need to be managed on both a national and regional level if they are to be used in a long-term, sustainable way. This book provides, for the first time, a concise study of the constraints and opportunities that the Blue Economy offers for southern Africa and the role that the Southern African Development Community (SADC) could play in fostering a sustainable use of its ocean and coastal resources.

Still a Western World? Continuity and Change in Global Order

Edited by Sergio Fabbrini, Raffaele Marchetti

Series: Europa Regional Perspectives

Today, the debate on world order is intense, as the global restructuring of international affairs generates deep reflection on how the world is, and how it should be reorganized. The relative decline of the USA, the crisis in the European Union, the consolidation of the BRIC emerging economies, and diffusion of the power to non-state actors all demand a new conceptualization of the rules of the global game. In this pluralist and changing context, a number of different narratives are presented by the key actors in the international system. This book analyses these narratives in comparative terms by putting them in the wider framework of the transformation in global governance.

Strategic Survey 2009*Edited by* IISSSeries:* Strategic Survey

The Strategic Survey is a journal of records that includes all relevant names and titles, chronologies and dates. The Strategic Survey opens with "Perspectives", an assessment of the effect of major events and trends on the strategic landscape. Next, particular strategic policy issues, such as terrorism and weapons of mass destruction, missile defence and the future of peacekeeping, are examined in separate chapters. Another 18 to 20 chapters of similar length, written along thematic rather than merely chronological lines, cover developments in particular regions or countries. The Strategic Survey concludes with "Prospectives", an essay setting forth strategic priorities for the coming year.

Survivor-Centred Justice

Global Perspectives and Issues

Edited by Ingrid Roestenburg-Morgan, Tim Murithi

Series: Europa Perspectives in Transitional Justice

This volume interrogates global perspectives and issues that constitute and characterize survivor-centred justice, exploring both conceptual and theoretical issues surrounding the definition of a 'survivor', practical considerations of what constitutes a survivor-centred approach to justice and available avenues of justice for survivors of mass atrocities. Most importantly it aims to be of value to survivors, survivor communities and survivor-centred networks.

Territorial Politics and the Party System in Spain:

Continuity and change since the financial crisis

Caroline Gray

Across Europe and beyond, economic woes in the wake of the global financial crisis of 2007-2008 unleashed fundamental changes in politics, with new parties emerging and populism surging. In Spain, the changes seen mark the most seismic shift in politics since the transition to democracy of the late 1970s. The book draws on institutional theories to help understand the Spanish case and situates Spain in the European context, reflecting on ways in which the Spanish case mirrors or departs from political shifts in wider Europe, and what this tells us about Spain and its neighbours.

Terrorism and Insurgency in Asia

A contemporary examination of terrorist and separatist movements

Edited by Benjamin Schreer, Andrew T. H. Tan

The rise of Islamic State since 2014 has led to the re-emergence of terrorism as a serious security threat in Asia. Coupled with the ongoing terrorism and insurgency challenges from radical religious extremists and ethno-nationalist insurgencies, some parts of Asia remain mired in armed rebellion despite decades of nation-building.

The Basque Contention

Ethnicity, Politics, Violence

Ludger Mees

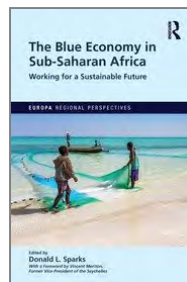

This book aims to provide a definitive history of the political issues of the Basque Country, weaving together the various historical and contemporary strands from the late medieval kingdoms of Spain and France and the first articulations of a Basque ethno-particularism, to the dissolution of ETA in 2018. For anyone who has ever wanted to gain an insight into the Basque Country beyond the headlines of ETA, and grasp the complexity of its relationship with Spain, France and indeed itself, this volume provides a detailed basis for such an understanding.

The Blue Economy in Sub-Saharan Africa

Working for a Sustainable Future

Edited by DONALD SPARKS

Series: Europa Regional Perspectives

The blue economy offers vast benefits for sub-Saharan Africa, with 32 being coastal states; 13 million square km of maritime zones; more than 90% of the region's exports and imports coming via sea; and the African Union hailing the blue economy as the 'new frontier of African renaissance'. This book provides a study of the constraints and opportunities the blue economy offers for sub-Saharan Africa. It includes sectoral analyses (including tourism, fisheries, mineral resources, culture, shipping and maritime safety); country case studies; and analyses of regional and international efforts towards better coastal zone and marine management.

The Caribbean Blue Economy

Edited by Peter Clegg, Robin Mahon, Patrick McConney, Hazel A. Oxenford

The book opens with an examination of the region's position in the global picture regarding adoption of the Blue Economy and examines key crosscutting issues such as ecosystem services, climate change and governance at all levels that could make or break the Blue Economy initiative. Following this, it explores the main sectoral activities that will constitute the Blue Economies in the region: fisheries, tourism, shipping and transport, renewable energy, oil and gas, seabed mining and waste management are all considered, closing with a synthesis of the political and technical requirements to overcome threats and take advantage of opportunities in the Blue Economy.

The Democratization of International Institutions

First International Democracy Report

Edited by Lucio Levi, Giovanni Finizio, Nicola Vallinoto

The democratization of international organizations is a theme increasingly debated all over the world. This is the first work on international democracy that systematically assesses the dynamics of democratization affecting most international organizations; consisting of chapters written by experts in the field, it integrates a large number of case studies with incisive and wide-ranging analysis to produce a volume unparalleled in comparative scope. This title is a valuable resource for scholars and research students in a variety of disciplines relating to politics and international relations, in addition to practitioners and civil servants of international organizations.

The Economic Crisis and its Aftermath in the Nordic and Baltic Countries

Do As We Say and Not As We Do

Hilmar Hilmarsson

The book will discuss the crisis response and post crisis results in the Nordic and Baltic countries in terms of both economic performance (e.g. GDP and unemployment) and social progress (e.g. risk of poverty, social exclusion, income distribution). The book will also analyze and assess how the Nordic-Baltic financial linkages affected crisis response in the Nordic and the Baltic States in 2008. The book will add to the literature on the EU, regional integration generally and on small states. It will seek to delve into the benefits and disadvantages of economic integration including banking linkages, trade and investment flows.

The European Union and Global Governance

A Handbook

Edited by Dr Jens-Uwe Wunderlich Aston University, UK,
David J. Bailey

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

The European Union and Global Governance: A Handbook analyzes contemporary debates in European Studies in order to provide lessons for the development, design and normative evaluation of global governance. It brings together scholars of European studies and international relations, where much of the literature on regional and global governance is located, thereby providing interdisciplinary lessons from the study of European Union and its governance that can be used to re-evaluate processes of global governance. Each chapter examines methodological, theoretical or empirical discussions within European studies in order to draw insights into current developments in global governance.

The European Mainstream and the Populist Radical Right

Edited by Pontus Odmalm, Eve Hepburn

Are populist radical right (PRR) parties the only alternatives for voters seeking restrictive and assimilationist outcomes? Or is a mainstream choice available? Popular opinion and social media commentaries often criticize mainstream parties for facing in the same liberal and multicultural direction. Literature on parties and elections equally suggests a convergence of policy positions and the disappearance of any significant differences between parties. By systematically coding manifestos for seventeen mainstream and six PRR parties in Western Europe, The book explores positional differences between mainstream and niche contenders over three key elections between 2002 and

The Global Arms Trade

A Handbook

Edited by Andrew Tan University of New South Wales, Australia

Series: Routledge International Handbooks

The Global Arms Trade is a timely, comprehensive and in-depth study of this topic, a phenomenon which has continued to flourish despite the end of the Cold War and the preoccupation with global terrorism after 11 September 2001. It will provide a clear description and analysis of the demand for, and supply of, modern weapons systems, and assess key issues of concern. This book will be especially useful to scholars, policy analysts, those in the arms industry, defence professionals, students of international relations and security studies, media professionals, government officials, and those generally interested in the arms trade.

The Hungry Dragon

How China's Resource Quest is Reshaping the World

Sigfrido Burgos Cáceres , Sophal Ear

This volume provides an up to date examination of China's global search for resources. It aims to provide an accessible but informed account of China's international energy initiatives, focusing primarily on oil. Country case studies (Angola, Brazil and Cambodia) are complemented by chapters on opportunities and risks to China, and an examination as to how strategies are developed into tangible actions. The book is aimed at general as well as specialized readers and examines the subject in relation to international affairs, especially how the geopolitics of scarcity is driving states to be tenser, more observant of each other, and more acute to foreign initiatives.

The Islamic Republic of Iran

Reflections on an Emerging Economy

Jahangir Amuzegar

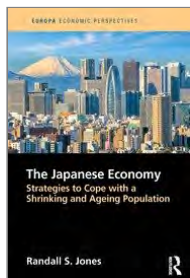

This title provides an in depth study of Iran's post 1979 Revolution economy under the Islamic Republic. An overview summarises the development of the Iranian economy under five successive administrations. Following this are fifteen articles providing detailed information which expands on, and compliments, the discussion in the overview. Appropriate references on specific topics are made to each relevant article, ensuring the material is easily accessible to the reader. Topics discussed include public finance, employment, banking, petroleum, privatization, the exchange rate, US and universal economic sanctions and the legacies of the Khatami and Ahmadinejad administrations.

The Japanese Economy

Strategies to Cope with a Shrinking and Ageing Population

Randall Jones

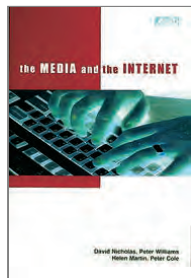

Series: Europa Economic Perspectives

The volume aims to increase understanding of Japan, the world's third-largest economy and a key player in the world economy. It will assist policymakers and serve as a resource for academics and students of economics and public policy. As Japan is a front-runner in population ageing, the book's analysis and policy recommendations are highly relevant to other countries that are, or soon will be, facing similar challenges.

The Media and the Internet

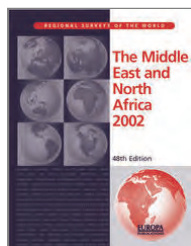

Peter Cole , Helen Martin , David Nicholas , Peter Williams

Its sheer functionality, connectivity and accessibility make the Internet an information force to be reckoned with. However, there is very little qualitative data on how the Internet is impacting upon information-seeking in the workplace. The Media and the Internet is a crucial piece of research into how journalists and other media workers are actually using this new resource. Using largely unstructured interviewing techniques, more than three hundred journalists and media librarians were surveyed. The findings are highly relevant to all those working in information-intensive sectors.

The Nordic, Baltic and Visegrád Small Powers in Europe

A Dance with Giants for Survival and Prosperity

Hilmar Hilmarsson

Series: Europa Regional Perspectives

The Nordic, Baltic and Visegrád Small Powers in Europe uses an interdisciplinary approach, the author discusses issues of economic policy, international relations and politics, economic and political integration, as well as the effects of global and regional institutions, and priorities in bilateral development cooperation, demonstrating how policies are shaped by the interaction between small states (small powers) and large states (great powers). It seeks to answer a number of questions on the current issues facing small states in Europe.

The Political Economy of Financial Transformation in Turkey

Edited by Galip Yalman, Thomas Marois, Ali Rıza Güngen

Turkey's neoliberal economy has evolved into one of the most dynamic among the rising powers since its 2001 financial crisis. Changes in the banking and financial sector have been vital both to Turkey's overall economic growth and to the underlying exploitative social structures that characterize neoliberal development strategies. This edited collection written by an interdisciplinary range of political economists seeks to provide the first volume which explores this transformation in detail, engaging in wider contemporary debates on the nature of peripheral financialization and varieties of capitalism.

The Political Economy of the Eurozone in Central and Eastern Europe

Why In, Why Out?

Edited by Krisztina Arató, Boglarka Koller, Anita Pelle

Series: Europa Perspectives on the EU Single Market

This volume examines the enigma that some Central and Eastern European (CEE) European Union (EU) member states have been keen to join the Eurozone while others have shown persistent reluctance and that attitudes towards joining have seemingly not correlated with either the level of economic development or the time spent as part of the EU, nor with any other rational reason such as the level of integration into the EU real economy, or the level of trust in the EU on the part of the public. Therefore, at first sight, the answer to the question 'why in, why out?' remains rather unclear.

The Politics of Islam in the Sahel

Between Persuasion and Violence

Rahmane Idrissa

Using the Sahel as a source of five comparative case studies, this volume aims to disentangle Islam from the political ideologies that have issued from it. Whence come these ideologies and why do they sometimes result in violence? Radical Salafi ideologies are at work in Burkina Faso, Mali, Niger, Nigeria and Senegal, but violence has broken out only in Mali and Northern Nigeria. Idrissa traces the emergence of radicalism as a spark ignited by the concurrent processes of Islamization and colonization in the 1940s. Examining the development of Salafi ideologies over time in connection with national politics in each of the countries, Idrissa offers a rich new perspective on the Sahel region.

The Politics of Narcotic Drugs

A Survey

Edited by Julia Buxton

Series: Europa Politics of ... series

This title brings together leading experts on the drugs trade to provide an accessible yet detailed analysis of the multiple challenges that the contemporary trade in narcotic drugs and its prohibition pose, from the local to the international community. Through the use of country and regional case studies the drivers of the drugs trade, and the security and development dilemmas created by the prohibition of narcotic substances, are explored. Contributions that assess the international drug control regime, British anti-drug enforcement organizations, 'narcoterrorism' and options for drug policy reform engage readers in current debates that shape discussion of the drugs issue.

The Taiwan Issue: Problems and Prospects

Edited by Benjamin Schreer, Andrew T. H. Tan

Although Taiwan has continued to find opportunities to maintain the current status quo despite a deteriorating geo-strategic environment as a result of the rise of China and the uncertainties of the Trump administration, its room for manoeuvre continues to narrow. This volume examines the challenges and evaluates the prospects for preventing conflict on the Taiwan Strait, by focusing on the political conditions that Taiwan faces internally and externally.

The UK's Journeys into and out of the EU

Destinations Unknown

Julie Smith

Series: Europa EU Perspectives: Reform, Renegotiation, Reshaping

This Routledge Focus investigates and analyses the United Kingdom's relationship with the European Communities (EC) and the European Union (EU). While the UK's voters opted to remain in the EC in a 1975 referendum, by June 2016 a majority favoured leaving the EU. This volume examines the UK's journey into the Union, how voters came to decide on Brexit, and where the UK's departure from the EU may lead it.

The Unknown War

Anti-Soviet armed resistance in Lithuania and its legacies

Edited by Arūnas Streikus

Series: Europa Country Perspectives

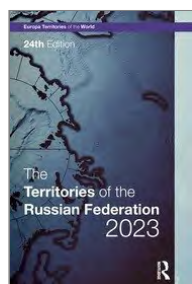

The armed anti-Soviet resistance movement which arose in 1944 in Lithuania, as Soviet forces began to reoccupy the Baltic countries and Galicia, sparking a nearly decade-long fierce military conflict, has yet to become established in the common narrative of contemporary European history. However, controversy regarding this "war after the war" and its legacies constitutes one of the core elements in contemporary information warfare waged by Russia against its neighbouring countries. Responding to the growing need for unbiased historical research, six scholars from Vilnius University address the diverse aspects of this phenomenon as well as its role in memory culture and politics.

Truth, Justice and Reconciliation in Colombia

Transitioning from Violence

Edited by Fabio Andres Diaz Pabon

The debate between the FARC and the representatives of the Colombian government has illustrated the difficulties of grounding treaties and agreements within a complex international setting in practice. The road to peace requires the acknowledgment of the wrongdoings of all the actors involved. The challenge lies not only in implementing justice, not only in defining it. The book attempts to bring contributions to these issues from the perspective of academics and practitioners from Colombia and within the community of researchers from Colombia and other countries where transitional Justice has taken place.

Ukraine

Contested Nationhood in a European Context

Ulrich Schmid

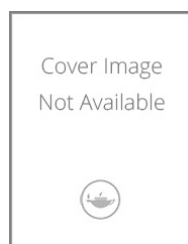

This book challenges the common view that Ukraine is a country split between a pro-European West and a pro-Russian East. The volume navigates the complicated cultural history of Ukraine and highlights the importance of regional traditions which underpin the current political situation. The pluralistic culture of Ukraine forms a nation that faces both internal and external challenges. Rather than follow these events chronologically, this book addresses the different conceptualisations of the Ukrainian nation and historical interpretations that have been especially influential.

Unravelling The Persistence of Dollarization

The Case of Georgia

Ia Eradze

Series: Europa Economic Perspectives

A political economic analysis of dollarization in Georgia, structured around three themes: the genesis of dollarization (1991–2003), the persistence of dollarization (2003–12) and the politicization of dollarization (2012–19). The case of Georgia is especially representative of the post-socialist transition states, but also has wider applicability. It will be of interest to postgraduate students in global/comparative political economy, development economics or transition economies, researchers in monetary sovereignty, central banking, exchange rate policies, currency hierarchy, money, financialization, and policy makers in dollarized countries and global institutions.

A Cold War History of Migration to Australia

Sheila Fitzpatrick

Over 20,000 ethnic Russians migrated to Australia after World War II. To the Soviet Union, Australia's resettling of Russians amounted to theft of its citizens, and undercover agents were deployed to persuade them to repatriate. Australia regarded the newcomers with suspicion, even as it sought to build its population. This book examines the early years of a disunited Russian-Australian community and how Australian and Soviet intelligence agencies attempted to track and influence them.

Youth at the Margins

Perspectives on Arab Mediterranean Youth

Edited by ELENA SÁNCHEZ-MONTIJANO, Jose SÁNCHEZ GARCÍA

The delay in accessing social adulthood suffered by young Arabs consigns them to a liminal space in which they are neither children nor independent autonomous adults, placed at the margins of society. Is the creation of new lifestyles and the emergence of youth cultures an indicator of socio-political transitions? Focussing on education, labour market, political and civic engagement, youth cultures and values, migration and policy assessment through national case studies which illustrate the lives of young people in five Arab countries, this book seeks to analyse the social strategies, cultural constructions and changes within the Arab youth population.
