Understanding Forgiveness and Addiction

Theory, Research, and Clinical Application

Jon R. Webb

This book integrates and synthesizes numerous empirically supported positive psychological constructs and psychotherapeutic theories to help understand addiction. Proposing forgiveness as an alternative and critical tool to understanding the process of addiction and recovery, whether in the context of substance use, compulsive behavior, and/or suicidal behavior, the book discusses multiple theoretical points of view regarding the process of forgiveness. The text's comprehensive integration of theory, research, and clinical application, including guidelines regarding forgiveness as a treatment method, provide a roadmap forward for addiction counselors and other recovery specialists.

Therapeutic Conversations with Adolescents

Helping Teens in Therapy Thrive in an Ultra-Competitive, Screen-Saturated World

Janet Sasson Edgette Private practice, Pennsylvania, USA

Therapeutic Conversations with Adolescents takes readers into the office of a seasoned therapist, where they can be a fly on the wall of live therapy sessions. Full of actual dialogue and the processing behind the choice of responses and interventions, this book stands in contrast to the dozens of books about adolescent therapy that discuss only theory, conjecture, and generic strategies. Readers will come away from this book understanding how to tread the delicate balance between the support and confrontation, the forthrightness and discretion, and the humor and tenacity that therapists need to make a real and lasting impact with teenagers.

Creating Meaning in Funerals

How Families and Communities Make Sense of Death

William G. Hoy Baylor University, Texas, USA

Creating Meaning in Funerals is a book about the ways in which bereaved families and communities create meaningful ceremonies against a backdrop of what is culturally appropriate, even when their choices might make little economic sense to those outside the culture. Readers will be repeatedly challenged to suspend their own biases and provide counseling support and encouragement to bereaved individuals for whom funerals were or were not effective means of coping with their loss. Discussion questions at the end of each chapter make the book useful for educational settings such as funeral service classroom instruction, thanatology classes, and grief counseling courses.

Disenfranchised Grief

Examining Social, Cultural, and Relational Impacts

Edited by Renee Blocker Turner Private practice, Texas, USA,
Sarah D. Stauffer Espace de Soutien et Prévention des Abus Sexuels, Switzerland

Disenfranchised Grief expands the professional helper's understanding of the grief experiences that result from social, cultural, and relational oppression, microaggressions, disempowerment, and overt violence. The authors blend trauma-informed practice and recent research on critical race theory, cultural humility, and intersectionality to both broaden mental health professionals' conceptualization of disenfranchised grief and its impacts and to promote equity and inclusion among populations that have been marginalized.

Grieving Beyond Gender

Understanding Diverse Grieving Styles

Kenneth J. Doka The College of New Rochelle, New York, USA,
Terry L. Martin Hood College, Maryland, USA

Series: Series in Death, Dying, and Bereavement

The third edition of Grieving Beyond Gender explores the different ways that individuals grieve, noting that gender is only one factor that affects an individual's style or pattern of grief. Doka and Martin present a model firmly grounded in social science theory and research, and place special emphasis on the model's clinical implications. Clinicians will come away from this book with concrete tools for supporting different types of grievers through individual counseling or group support.

Integrating Neurocounseling in Clinical Supervision

Strategies for Success

Lori A. Russell-Chapin Bradley University, Illinois, USA, Theodore J. Chapin Chapin & Russell Associates, Illinois, USA

Integrating Neurocounseling in Clinical Supervision provides an indispensable framework for understanding supervision using neuroscience. By combining supervision theory, practical applications, discussion questions, and case studies and demonstrations, the authors prepare counselors to be more intentional about brain functions to increase the efficacy of supervision. New video demonstrations available on the companion website emphasize client outcomes for each of the five supervision models and one group counseling scenario, connecting directly to chapter content and demonstrating the major elements of each model.

Unlocking the Emotional Brain

Memory Reconsolidation and the Psychotherapy of Transformational Change

Bruce Ecker, Robin Ticic, Laurel Hulley

Unlocking the Emotional Brain maps out a core process of profound unlearning, identified in neuroscience research on memory reconsolidation, that is embedded and detectable in psychotherapies that yield transformational change. This volume delivers a remarkable unification of the panoply of therapy systems. Two dozen detailed case examples show the versatility and remarkable effectiveness of the memory reconsolidation process for a vast range of severe, longstanding problems and symptoms, including complex trauma, depression, panic attacks, shame, insecure attachment, compulsive behaviors, and many others.

Annotated Psychotherapy

A Session by Session Look at How a Therapist Thinks

Richard B. Makover Yale School of Medicine, Connecticut, USA

Annotated Psychotherapy demonstrates how an experienced psychotherapist develops and carries out the right treatment plan through interactions with the patient or client. In these pages, clinicians will find an explanation of everything the therapist says to patients or clients: why they say it, what they intend it to do, how it fits in with the treatment plan for that person, and, importantly, what might have been said that would be better.

Helping Skills for Counselors and Health Professionals

Building Culturally Competent Relationships

Stephanie S. J. Drcar Cleveland State University, Ohio, USA, Kathryn C. MacCluskie Cleveland State University, Ohio, USA, Dakota King-White Cleveland State University, Ohio, USA

Helping Skills for Counselors and Health Professionals provides a model of foundational helping skills that is grounded in a multicultural framework. Chapters explicitly examine implicit bias and the role of culture and systems of oppression and marginalization within the lives of both individuals and communities. The text also uses ecological systems theory to assist readers in conceptualizing the ways in which culture influences communication styles, perceptions of professional helpers, and individual needs. Readers will be introduced to concepts that increase awareness of micro and macro-level influences on helping skills, communication, and the patient's life.

3RD EDITION

Principles of Counseling and Psychotherapy

Learning the Essential Domains and Nonlinear Thinking of Master Practitioners

Paul R. Peluso Florida Atlantic University, USA

Principles of Counseling and Psychotherapy, 3rd ed, helps students in introductory counseling courses prepare for practice with real clients by learning to think in a new way, rather than simply learning and using a set of steps. New sections focused on the use of mental models, theory of mind, and concrete strategies for intervention are specifically designed to engage the reader's natural non-linear thinking, and transcript material both from cases and from master therapists themselves are interwoven throughout the text.

Reimagining Research

Engaging Data, Research, and Program Evaluation in Social Justice Counseling

Edited by Trevor J. Buser Naropa University, Colorado, USA, Sandy Gibson The College of New Jersey, USA

Reimagining Research centers antiracist research practices and showcases real-world research in counseling practice. The book focuses on the research competencies that matter most to counselors, with each chapter co-authored by practicing counselors and counselor educators. Each chapter reflects diversity in authorship and opens with a "potential for practice" case study that illustrates a research-related challenge in the practice of counseling. Chapters close with attention to resources that are readily available for counselors who want to implement these practices, such as evidence-based practice guidelines, open-access journals, and open-access statistical tools.

Handbook of Bowen Family Systems Theory and Research Methods

A Systems Model for Family Research

Edited by Mignonette N. Keller, Robert J. Noone

This multi-authored volume discusses the links between theory, data collection, and data analysis based on Bowen family systems theory and presents new and innovative approaches to address the multifaceted issues inherent in family research. The core concepts within the theory are discussed with emphasis on conceptual and methodological issues explored in empirical research. A comprehensive framework for expanding the understanding of both method and theory is accomplished through an in-depth analysis and examples of the application of Bowen theory to family practice.

Counseling Toward Solutions

A Practical, Solution-Focused Program for Working with Students, Teachers, and Parents

Linda Metcalf

This book provides a solution-focused approach to working alongside students, parents, and teachers that decreases misbehaviors, encourages mental health and growth in students, and provides social emotional learning opportunities. Based on the notion that focusing on problems often leads to frustration when tried and true remedies fail, the book provides a three-step approach to having solution-focused conversations with students, parents, and in response to intervention and team meetings. Complete with specific dialogues and case studies, this text provides school counselors with a road map to looking beyond problems and seeking solutions with students, creating grit and resilience.

Evidence-Based School Counseling

A Student Success Approach

Greg Brigrman Florida Atlantic University, USA, Elizabeth Villares Florida Atlantic University, USA, Linda Webb Florida State University, USA

Evidence-Based School Counseling presents a unique method for training graduate students to become effective school counselors that is presented in a "Tell, Show, Do, Coach" approach and reflective of ASCA, CACREP, and CAEP standards. This method is based on the ASCA National Model; the research base associated with social-emotional learning (SEL), non-cognitive factors and college/career readiness; and evidence-based programs tied to this research base. The text highlights how the new ASCA Mindsets and Behaviors have been modeled after this research base and provides resources for school counselors to find evidence-based programs and interventions connected to this research.

Helping Skills for Counselors and Health Professionals

Building Culturally Competent Relationships

Stephanie S. J. Drcar Cleveland State University, Ohio, USA, Kathryn C. MacCluskie Cleveland State University, Ohio, USA, Dakota King-White Cleveland State University, Ohio, USA

Helping Skills for Counselors and Health Professionals provides a model of foundational helping skills that is grounded in a multicultural framework. Chapters explicitly examine implicit bias and the role of culture and systems of oppression and marginalization within the lives of both individuals and communities. The text also uses ecological systems theory to assist readers in conceptualizing the ways in which culture influences communication styles, perceptions of professional helpers, and individual needs. Readers will be introduced to concepts that increase awareness of micro and macro-level influences on helping skills, communication, and the patient's life.

Advances in Contemplative Psychotherapy

Accelerating Personal and Social Transformation

Edited by Joseph Loizzo Nalanda Institute, California, USA, Fiona Brandon Nalanda Institute, California, USA, Emily J. Wolf Nalanda Institute & Weill Cornell Medical College, USA, Miles Neale Nalanda Institute & Weill Cornell Medical College, USA

Advances in Contemplative Psychotherapy offers mental health professionals of all disciplines and orientations the most comprehensive and rigorous introduction to the art of integrating contemplative psychology, ethics, and practices. New chapters discuss how contemplative work can effect positive psychosocial change at personal, interpersonal, and collective levels to address racial, gender, and other forms of systemic oppression. The new edition also explores the cross-cultural nuances in the integration of Buddhist psychology and healing practices by Western researchers and clinicians and includes the voices of leading Tibetan doctors.

Integrating Spirituality into Counseling

Methods and Practices

Andrzej K. Jastrzębski Saint Paul University, Ontario, Canada

Integrating Spirituality into Counseling uses the Christian tradition as starting point for developing a universal frame of reference and is predominantly based on an existential approach to counseling, one that is applicable to several faith traditions as well as spiritual but non-religious audiences. Integrating Spirituality into Counseling is designed for students of counseling, pastoral care, spirituality, theology, and chaplaincy. It will provide readers with the tools they need to work with spiritual issues across traditions.

Tests and Assessments in Counseling

A Case by Case Exploration

Edited by Bill McHenry St. Edward's University, Texas, USA
Kathryn C. MacCluskie Cleveland State University,
 Ohio, USA, Jim McHenry Edinboro University of Pennsylvania, USA

Tests and Assessments in Counseling provides students with current information on assessment tools and techniques through detailed case scenarios and vignettes. Going beyond basic information about a multitude of assessments, the authors focus on the use of instruments in individual cases to allow readers to more fully grasp the integral relationship between tests and assessment data and the counseling process. Chapters guide students through choosing the most effective assessment tool, successfully administering the assessment, and making meaningful and useful results of the data with the client. Test questions are also included at the end of each chapter.

2ND EDITION

Introduction to Art Therapy

Sources & Resources

Judith A. Rubin

Introduction to Art Therapy: Sources and Resources, is the thoroughly updated and revised second edition of Judith Rubin's landmark 1999 text, the first to describe the history of art in both assessment and therapy, and to clarify the differences between artists or teachers who provide "therapeutic" art activities, psychologists or social workers who request drawings, and those who are trained as art therapists to do a kind of work which is similar, but qualitatively different. This new edition contains a DVD-ROM with over 400 still images and 250 edited video clips for much richer illustration than is possible with figures alone; an additional chapter describing the work that art therapists do; and new material on education with updated information on standards, ethics, and informing others. To further make the information accessible to practitioners, students, and teachers, the author has included a section on Treatment Planning and Evaluation, an updated list of resource

Nature-Based Play Therapy

A Prescriptive Approach to Integrating the Therapeutic Powers of Nature and Play

Julie Blundon Nash Riverside Psychological Associates, LLC, Connecticut, USA

Nature-Based Play Therapy brings a theoretical basis to arguments for including nature in play therapy and provides tools for that inclusion with a prescriptive model. In these chapters, play therapists are introduced to the histories of nature and play across cultures and cultural expectations and are then guided into an understanding of how nature and play intersect with current trends in society and psychotherapy. Nature-Based Play Therapy is an excellent introduction to a vital and growing area of the field, one that gives a well-rounded summary to a theoretically based model of treatment.

The Ethics of Group Psychotherapy

Principles and Practical Strategies

Virginia Brabender , Rebecca MacNair-Semands

Series: AGPA Group Therapy Training and Practice Series

This text provides group psychotherapists with the ethical and legal foundation needed to engage in effective decision-making in their everyday practices. The authors explore those problems emerging most routinely in group practice, among which are safeguarding members' personal information, protecting members' autonomy, and helping members to process differences—particularly those related to privilege—in a way that furthers interpersonal relations and social justice. Featuring questions for discussion and items to assess the reader's mastery of the material, training group psychotherapists will find this text to be a valuable tool in classroom and small-group learning.

2ND EDITION

Group Work

Processes and Applications, 2nd Edition

Edited by Bradley T. Erford Vanderbilt University, Tennessee, USA

The overriding theme of this text is a focus on the specialized group work that counselors perform from a systemic perspective in a multicultural context. This text briefly covers traditional theoretical approaches, focusing more on the techniques and applications of the approaches, but the core of the text involves the systemic approach to group work: preparing group leaders to facilitate the systemic group process, from planning the group through the four stages of group work. The content is aligned with 2016 CACREP standards. Numerous other techniques, covered, are linked with specific theoretical orientations.

Case Studies in Couples Therapy

Theory-Based Approaches

Edited by David K. Carson Palm Beach Atlantic University, Florida, USA, Montserrat Casado-Kehoe Palm Beach Atlantic University, Florida, USA

Series: Routledge Series on Family Therapy and Counseling

In Case Studies in Couples Therapy, readers will grasp the essentials of major theories and approaches in a few pages and then see how concepts and principles are applied in the work of well-known clinicians. The case studies incorporate a wide variety of couples from diverse backgrounds in a number of different life situations. It is simultaneously narrow (including specific processes and interventions applied with real clients) and broad (clearly outlining a broad array of theories and concepts) in scope, and the interventions in it are directly linked to theoretical perspectives in a clear and systematic way. Students and clinicians alike will find the theoretical overview sections of each chapter clear and easy to follow, and each chapter's thorough descriptions of effective, practical interventions will give readers a strong sense of the connections between theory and practice.

Family Systems Theory Simplified

Applying and Understanding Systemic Therapy Models

Bethany C. Suppes

Bethany C. Suppes offers a refreshed perspective of Family Systems Therapy (FST), focusing on the importance of understanding its concepts and demonstrating how models of marriage and family therapy can appear practically in counseling. In Part 1, Suppes begins with a theoretical overview of FST, including the history of development, key theorists, and defining core concepts. In Part 2, she focuses on application and explores nine key components of FST, identifying how various systemic therapy models apply these concepts. Primarily written for those having their first exposure to the ideas of FST, it aims to improve the therapeutic process for both therapist and client.

Group Counseling

Concepts and Procedures

Robert C. Berg University of North Texas, USA, Garry L. Landreth University of North Texas, USA, Kevin A. Fall Texas State University, USA

Group Counseling, 6th edition offers an engaging journey through the group process that is congruent with 2016 CACREP and the ASGW practice standards and grounded in the most cutting edge research and theory. The authors present a thorough discussion of the rationale for using group counseling with an emphasis on the group's role as a preventive environment and as a setting for self-discovery. They examine the group facilitator's internal frame of reference and ways to overcome initial anxiety about leading groups, and they explore typical problems in the development, facilitation, and termination of the group process and provide suggested solutions.

Social Justice and Counseling

Discourse in Practice

Cristelle Audet , David Paré

Social Justice and Counseling represents the intersection between therapy, counseling, and social justice. The international roster of contributors demonstrate how social justice unfolds in conversations that attend to social inequities, power imbalances, systemic discrimination, and more. Beginning with an interrogation of the concept of social justice, subsequent sections cover training and supervising from a social justice perspective, accessing local knowledge to privilege client voices, justice and gender, and anti-pathologizing and the politics of practice. Each chapter concludes with reflection questions for readers to engage experientially in what authors have offered.

Handbook of Bowen Family Systems Theory and Research Methods

A Systems Model for Family Research

Edited by Mignonette N. Keller, Robert J. Noone

This multi-authored volume discusses the links between theory, data collection, and data analysis based on Bowen family systems theory and presents new and innovative approaches to address the multifaceted issues inherent in family research. The core concepts within the theory are discussed with emphasis on conceptual and methodological issues explored in empirical research. A comprehensive framework for expanding the understanding of both method and theory is accomplished through an in-depth analysis and examples of the application of Bowen theory to family practice.

Research for the Psychotherapist

From Science to Practice

Jay L. Lebow The Family Institute at Northwestern University, Illinois, USA, Paul H. Jenkins National University, California, USA

While empirical, scientific research has much to offer to the practice-oriented therapist in training, it is often difficult to effectively engage the trainee, beginning practitioner, or graduate student in the subject of research. This fully revised and expanded edition of Research for the Psychotherapist is an engaging, accessible guide that bridges the gap between gathering, analyzing, presenting, and discussing research and incorporating that research into practice. The authors present concise chapters that distill research findings and clearly apply them to practical issues, while also helping readers progress as consumers of relevant research.

3RD EDITION

New Directions in Sex Therapy

Innovations and Alternatives

Edited by Peggy J. Kleinplatz

New Directions in Sex Therapy: Innovations and Alternatives, 3rd Edition focuses on new and cutting-edge therapy paradigms as alternatives to conventional clinical strategies, challenging practitioners to expand our thinking about how to deal with sexual concerns. In the 3rd edition of this award-winning book, Peggy J. Kleinplatz, Ph.D., brings together the best therapists and sexologists to advance beyond predominant approaches to sexual difficulties. This book is intended for students and clinicians who deal with sexual issues and concerns in therapy – clinicians of every kind, novices and advanced practitioners – rather than only those who define themselves as sex therapists.

Systems Theories for Psychotherapists

From Theory to Practice

Michael D. Reiter Nova Southeastern University, Florida, USA

This accessible guide introduces readers to the three main approaches to systems theory: general systems theory, natural systems theory, and language systems theory. The book presents the aesthetics and pragmatics behind each theory, exploring how therapists can conceptualise the problems that clients bring to therapy, and offering a range of contemporary examples to show how each theory can be applied to practice. Woven throughout are 3 helpful learning tools 'Applying Your Knowledge', 'Key Figure' and 'Questions for Expansion', providing the reader with the opportunity to critically engage with each concept, and challenging them to apply prominent systems theories to their own practice.
