12TH EDITION

How to Use SPSS®

A Step-By-Step Guide to Analysis and Interpretation

Brian C. Cronk

This book is designed with the novice computer user in mind and for people who have no previous experience using SPSS. Each chapter is divided into short sections that describe the statistic being used, important underlying assumptions, and how to interpret the results and express them in a research report. The book begins with the basics, such as starting SPSS, defining variables, and entering and saving data. It covers all major statistical techniques typically taught in beginning statistics classes, such as descriptive statistics, graphing data, prediction and association, parametric inferential statistics, nonparametric inferential statistics and statistics for test construction.

Introduction to Real World Statistics

With Step-By-Step SPSS Instructions

Edward T. Vieira, Jr.

Introduction to Real World Statistics provides students with the basic concepts and practices of applied statistics, including data management and preparation; an introduction to the concept of probability; data screening and descriptive statistics; various inferential analysis techniques; and a series of exercises that are designed to integrate core statistical concepts. The author's systematic approach, which assumes no prior knowledge of the subject, equips student practitioners with a fundamental understanding of applied statistics that can be deployed across a wide variety of disciplines and professions.

8TH EDITION

Making Sense of Statistics

A Conceptual Overview

Deborah M. Oh , Fred Pyrczak

Making Sense of Statistics, Eighth Edition, is the ideal introduction to the concepts of descriptive and inferential statistics for students undertaking their first research project. It presents each statistical concept in a series of short steps, then uses worked examples and exercises to enable students to apply their own learning. This conceptual book is useful for all study levels, from undergraduate to doctoral level across disciplines. Once students understand and feel comfortable with the statistics presented in this book, they should find it easy to master additional statistical concepts.

4TH EDITION

SPSS Demystified

A Simple Guide and Reference

Ronald D. Yockey Fresno State University, USA

Keenly aware of students' anxiety with statistics (and the fact that this anxiety can affect performance), Ronald D. Yockey has written SPSS Demystified: A Simple Guide and Reference, now in its fourth edition. Through a comprehensive, step-by-step approach, this text is consistently and specifically designed to both alleviate anxiety toward the subject matter and build a successful experience analyzing data in SPSS. Topics covered in the text are appropriate for most introductory and intermediate statistics and research methods courses.

Statistical Methods

An Introduction to Basic Statistical Concepts and Analysis

Cheryl Ann Willard

Statistical Methods explains core statistical concepts and basic analysis techniques for the beginning undergraduate student in statistics or quantitative research methods. Each chapter covers a core concept before guiding students through a series of exercises designed to apply and demonstrate their knowledge. Expanded coverage of the second edition includes two new chapters on essential topics such as factorial analysis of variance, additional chapter exercises, and a full suite of instructor resources – powerpoint slides, instructor manual and test bank questions.

Success at Statistics

A Worktext with Humor

Fred Pyrczak

Divided into 67 short sections, this text allows instructors to assign only those sections needed to meet the goals of the course. Humorous riddles allow students to check their work without providing the answers; if the answer to a riddle makes sense, then students know they have answered all questions in an exercise correctly. All major statistics typically introduced in a first-semester course are covered. Contains material on effect size, which provides technical solutions to issues raised earlier in the book (such as the limitations of inferential statistics).

Bayesian Multilevel Models for Repeated Measures Data

A Conceptual and Practical Introduction in R

Santiago Barreda , Noah Silbert

This comprehensive book is an introduction to multilevel Bayesian models in R using brms and the Stan programming language. Featuring a series of fully worked analyses of repeated-measures data, focus is placed on active learning through the analyses of the progressively more complicated models presented throughout the book. This book provides an accessible introduction for readers in any field, with any level of statistical background. Senior undergraduate students, graduate students, and experienced researchers looking to 'translate' their skills with more traditional models to a Bayesian framework, will benefit greatly from the lessons in this text.

Data Analytics for the Social Sciences

Applications in R

G. David Garson

This book presents a complete exploration of statistical data analysis in R for a wide variety of social science disciplines and quantitative methods courses. Covering all the bases including multilevel modeling and ANOVA / ANCOVA, the book also goes further by looking at topics such as: neural networks to implement deep learning, thus solving complex problems other algorithms cannot; how to deal with missing values in real world data; and the use of text analytics. R code input and output is included. Suitable for all advanced level undergraduate and postgraduate students learning statistical data analysis.

IBM SPSS Statistics 27 Step by Step

A Simple Guide and Reference

Darren George , Paul Mallery

IBM SPSS Statistics 27 Step by Step takes a straightforward, step-by-step approach that makes SPSS software clear to beginners and experienced researchers alike. Extensive use of four-color screen shots, clear writing, and step-by-step boxes guide readers through the program. Output for each procedure is explained and illustrated, and every output term is defined. New to this edition: Full coverage of the 11 new procedures for power analysis; Effect sizes included throughout; Bubble charts in chapter 5; Bayesian statistics

Introductory Statistics

A Conceptual Approach Using R

William B. Ware University of North Carolina, USA, John M. Ferron University of South Florida, USA, Barbara M. Miller Elon University, USA

This comprehensive text is aimed at undergraduate and graduate level statistics courses in education, psychology, and other social sciences. A conceptual approach, built around common issues and problems rather than statistical techniques, allows students to understand the conceptual nature of statistical procedures and to focus on cases and examples of analysis. This is one of the first statistics texts in the social sciences using R as the principal statistical package.

Models for Non-Modelers

Understanding the Use of Models for Social Scientists and Others

Göran Djurfeldt Lund University, Sweden

Models for Non-Modelers focuses not on how to design models, but on how to understand and critically appraise them. Data and statistical models are widely used in disciplines such as epidemiology, climate science and systems design, but it can be difficult for those without the necessary training to understand and implement them. This book will be suitable for graduate students and researchers in the social sciences who would like to learn more about how to assess models and the steps they need to take to apply them in their own research, as well as for those taking first courses in quantitative methods and statistical analysis for research data analysis.

Multiple Regression and Beyond

An Introduction to Multiple Regression and Structural Equation Modeling

Timothy Z. Keith University of Texas, Austin, USA

Multiple Regression and Beyond offers a conceptually oriented introduction to multiple regression (MR) analysis and structural equation modeling (SEM), along with analyses that flow naturally from those methods. By focusing on the concepts and purposes of MR and related methods, rather than the derivation and calculation of formulae, this book introduces material to students more clearly, and in a less threatening way. In addition to illuminating content necessary for coursework, the accessibility of this approach means students are more likely to be able to conduct research using MR or SEM--and more likely to use the methods wisely.

Assessment Engineering in Test Design

Methods and Applications

Richard M. Luecht UNGC- Greensboro

This book presents an engineering-inspired, multi-disciplinary approach to the field of applied measurement that bridges the gap between the craft of item writing and test design, the statistical sophistication of psychometric methods for scale development and maintenance, and score interpretations. It directly addresses the topic of "next generation" assessment design head-on by proposing a new perspective, a new understanding, of the challenge of designing, developing and implementing large (and small) scale educational testing programs. It is an essential reading for all students of psychology and related disciplines as well as test developers and psychometricians.

Categorical and Nonparametric Data Analysis

Choosing the Best Statistical Technique

E. Michael Nussbaum University of Nevada, Las Vegas, USA

Series: Multivariate Applications Series

Now in its second edition, this book provides a focused, comprehensive overview of both categorical and nonparametric statistics, offering a conceptual framework for choosing the most appropriate test in various scenarios. Problems inspired by actual studies provide meaningful illustrations of these techniques. Basic statistics and probability are reviewed for those needing a refresher with mathematical derivations placed in optional appendices. Intended for graduate or advanced undergraduate courses in categorical and nonparametric statistics taught in psychology.

D-scoring Method of Measurement

Classical and Latent Frameworks

Dimiter Dimitrov

Series: Quantitative Methodology Series

D-scoring Method of Measurement presents a unified framework of classical and latent measurement referred to as D-scoring method of measurement (DSM). Provided are detailed descriptions of DSM procedures and illustrative examples of how to apply the DSM in various scenarios of measurement. The DSM is designed to combine merits of the traditional CTT and IRT for the purpose of transparency, ease of interpretations, computational simplicity of test scoring and scaling, and practical efficiency, particularly in large-scale assessments.

Invariant Measurement

Using Rasch Models in the Social, Behavioral, and Health Sciences

George Engelhard, Jr. , Jue Wang University of Science and Technology of China

This is the second edition of an introductory text that describes the principles of invariant measurement; how invariant measurement can be achieved using Rasch measurement theory; and how to use invariant measurement to solve a variety of measurement problems in the social, behavioral, and health sciences. Rasch models are used throughout the text, but brief comparisons of Rasch models to other item response theory (IRT) models are also provided. Written with students in mind, this new edition was class-tested to help maximize accessibility. Chapters open with an introduction and close with a discussion and summary.

Longitudinal Structural Equation Modeling

A Comprehensive Introduction

Jason T. Newsom Portland State University, USA

Series: Multivariate Applications Series

Longitudinal Structural Equation Modeling, Second Edition provides an in-depth, comprehensive overview of structural equation modeling (SEM) strategies for longitudinal data to help readers see which modeling options are available for which hypotheses. Ideal for graduate courses on longitudinal (data) analysis, advanced SEM, longitudinal SEM, and/or advanced data (quantitative) analysis taught in the behavioral, social, and health sciences, Longitudinal Structural Equation Modeling, Second Edition, also appeals to researchers in these fields, and the first edition has been popular as a standard reference for this type of analysis.

Python for Experimental Psychologists

A Fun Way of Learning How to Code Your Experiments and Analyses

Edwin S. Dalmaijer , Rebecca Hirst , Jonathan Peirce

Python for Experimental Psychologists equips researchers who have no prior programming experience with the essential knowledge to independently script experiments and analyses in the programming language Python. The book offers an excellent introduction, whether you are an undergraduate, a PhD candidate, or an established researcher. This updated edition is on Python 3 (the most current version). It starts by teaching the fundamentals of programming in Python, and then offers several chapters on scripting experiments (displaying stimuli, obtaining and logging user input, precision timing, etc.) using the popular PsychoPy package.

R Data Analysis without Programming

Explanation and Interpretation

David W. Gerbing Portland State University, USA

The new edition of this innovative book, prepares the readers to quickly analyse data and interpret statistical results using R. Professor Gerbing has developed lessR, which is a ground-breaking method in alleviating the challenges of R programming. The lessR extends R, removing the need for programming. This edition expands upon the first edition's introduction to R through lessR which enables the readers to learn how to organize data for analysis, read the data into R, and generate output without performing numerous functions and programming exercises first.

Regression and Machine Learning for Education Sciences Using R

Cody Dingsen

This book provides a conceptual introduction to regression and machine learning and its applications in education research. The book discusses its diverse applications, including its role in predicting future events based on the current data or explaining why some phenomena occur. These identified important predictors provide data-based evidence for educational and psychological decision-making. Regression and Machine Learning for Education Sciences Using R is primarily for students or practitioners in education and psychology, although individuals from other related disciplines can also find the book beneficial.

An Autoethnography of Queer Invisibility

On Shame, Passing, and Identity Suicide

David Purnell

Series: Writing Lives: Ethnographic and Autoethnographic Narratives

This book recounts a personal journey of self-acceptance, focusing on the author's creation and reliance of a persona (Paul D. Drevlin) as a defense mechanism against societal and familial pressures. Suitable for students studying LGBT+ studies, Gender studies, sociology, psychology, social work, and creative writing, this book will also appeal to non-academic readers who may find the cultural and family themes significant to their own lives.

Autoethnographies in Psychology and Mental Health

New Voices

Edited by Alec Grant , Jerome Carson

This autoethnographic volume gathers a multiplicity of different voices in autoethnographic research from across psychology and mental health disciplines to address topics ranging from selfhood, trauma, emotional understanding, clinical psychology, and the experience of grief. It collects new autoethnographic writers from across a diverse range of disciplines and in doing makes a strong case for the legitimacy of subjectivity, emotionality and lived experience as epistemic and pedagogic resources. This work will be of interest to psychology and mental health students and professions with an interest in qualitative inquiry as it intersects with autoethnography and mental health.

Autoethnography Pedagogy and Practice

Stories of Interdisciplinary Innovation

Edited by Kitrina Douglas , David Carless

Autoethnography Pedagogy and Practice supports and generates new insights into how autoethnography can be taught, supervised and practiced by sharing the experiences and reflections of researchers from a wide range of fields and disciplines. It will be of interest to researchers in Psychology, Medicine, Pharmacology, Allied Health, Nursing, Mental health, Sport and Exercise Science, Coaching, Sociology, Psychotherapy, Theatre Studies, and Communication Studies.

Epistolary Autoethnographies on Loss, Memory, and Resolution

Reflections on Black Motherhood

Bryant Keith Alexander , Mary E. Weems

Series: International Congress of Qualitative Inquiry (ICQI) Foundations and Futures in Qualitative Inquiry

This book uses letter writing as a form of engaging autoethnography to address relational histories and dynamics such as race, gender, loss, memory and resolution. In addition to students and researchers partaking in autoethnographical studies, this book is suitable for anyone studying qualitative inquiry, performance studies, gender studies, cultural studies, Black studies, anthropology, and performative writing.

Meaningful Journeys

Autoethnographies of Quest and Identity Transformation

Edited by Alec Grant , Elizabeth Lloyd-Parkes

Meaningful Journeys is an autoethnographic exploration of the conceptual, philosophical, and etymological origins of 'journeying' and 'questing' and the ways in which these intersect with identity. This book is essential reading for students and practitioners of autoethnography and qualitative inquiry and will be of particular interest to scholars and readers internationally, who are interested in identity transformation. This includes those wishing to use qualitative inquiry – subsuming autoethnography – as an approach to tackle, represent and guide, personal and social quest and identity transformation, and the subjective and intersubjective dimensions of this.

Resisting Cultural Narrative Entrapment in Autoethnography

Alec Grant

Resisting Cultural Narrative Entrapment in Autoethnography delves into the nexus of cultural narratives and takes the reader on a journey through the intricate landscape of identity and cultural critique. Each chapter, enriched with dialogues with 'Ash,' our imaginary interlocutor, presents a profound exploration rooted in the philosophical fabric. This book amplifies the discourse on ontological and epistemological reflections often overlooked in narrative autoethnography. Central to its narrative is the concept of cultural narrative entrapment, meticulously dissected to unveil its philosophical underpinnings.

Critical Approaches to Life Writing Methods in Qualitative Research

Thalia M. Mulvihill Ball State University, Raji Swaminathan University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee

Critical Approaches to Life Writing Methods in Qualitative Research gives researchers and students a concise and working overview of how to write biographical and autobiographical qualitative research. Tracing the connection between this method and critical, feminist, and postcolonial, this volume shows how to begin using critical qualitative inquiry approaches such as biography, autobiography, auto/ethnography, oral history, collective and collaborative auto/biographies. With tools to help scholars plan and accomplish their projects, this short volume is for any researcher looking to incorporate life writing into their scholarship.

Critical Autoethnography

Intersecting Cultural Identities in Everyday Life

Edited by Robin M. Boylorn, Mark P. Orbe

Series: Writing Lives: Ethnographic and Autoethnographic Narratives

Critical Autoethnography: Intersecting Cultural Identities in Everyday Life, Second Edition, examines the development of the field of critical autoethnography through the lens of social identity. Contributors situate interpersonal and intercultural experiences of gender, race, ethnicity, ability, citizenship, sexuality and spirituality within larger systems of power, oppression and privilege. It is an excellent resource for undergraduate students, graduate students, educators, and scholars who are interested in autoethnography, interpersonal and intercultural communication, qualitative studies, personal narrative, cultural studies and performance studies.

Handbook of Autoethnography

Edited by Tony E. Adams, Stacy Holman Jones, Carolyn Ellis

The second edition of this seminal text in the field of autoethnography considers the development and establishing of a fast-moving discipline since the publication of the first edition. Seven of the original handbook chapters are revised; the rest are original contributions and exemplars from some of the most established scholars in the field. A substantially revised structure makes the thematic organisation easier to follow. Combining established scholarship with innovative new contributions, Handbook of Autoethnography will be of interest to all those teaching and studying graduate and undergraduate courses in autoethnography and qualitative research.

Evocative Autoethnography

Writing Lives and Telling Stories

Arthur Bochner, Carolyn Ellis

Series: Writing Lives: Ethnographic and Autoethnographic Narratives

This comprehensive text is the first to introduce evocative autoethnography as a methodology and a way of life in the human sciences. Using numerous examples from their work and others, world-renowned scholars Arthur Bochner and Carolyn Ellis, originators of the method, emphasize how to connect intellectually and emotionally to the lives of readers throughout the challenging process of representing lived experiences. Written as the story of a fictional workshop, based on many similar sessions led by the authors, it incorporates group discussions, common questions, and workshop handouts.

Personal Narrative Performance and Storytelling

A Method of Composition from Action to Text

Charles Parrott

This book offers a clear and replicable method for constructing personal stories / storytelling to be performed on stage for an audience with the intention of sharing the performer's experience. These solo performances can be readily applied as a method of communicating theoretical and scholarly arguments about culture, gender, race, the environment, etc. Most, if not all, performance studies programs assign students personal storytelling projects and this book provides the resources for students and instructors to teach these methods.

The Relational Ethics of Narrative Inquiry

D. Jean Clandinin University of Alberta, Canada, Vera Caine University of Alberta, Canada, Sean Lessard University of Alberta, Canada

Series: Developing Qualitative Inquiry

Relational ethics is at the heart of narrative inquiry; it should guide and shape all forms of narrative inquiry. This book takes on a conceptual framework for the practice of relational ethics in research, using a broadly ontological approach. It can be read as a standalone text or in conjunction with Engaging in Narrative Inquiry and Engaging in Narrative Inquiry with Children and Youth to give an in-depth discourse around the main issues in narrative inquiry research.

A Concise Guide to Writing a Thesis or Dissertation

Educational Research and Beyond

Halyna M. Kornuta, Ron W. Germaine

A Concise Guide to Writing a Thesis or Dissertation provides clear, concise, and intentional practice guidelines about organizing and writing a thesis or dissertation. Part I provides an overview for writing a thesis or dissertation. It describes the big picture of planning and formatting a research study, from identifying a topic through to writing quality. Part II describes the framework and substance of a research study. It models the pattern generally found in a formal, five-chapter research study.

Critical Approaches to Questions in Qualitative Research

Raji Swaminathan University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee,
Thalia M. Mulvihill Ball State University

This book provides a comprehensive overview of critical approaches to questions in qualitative research. Written using examples from actual research and course work, this volume helps students and researchers learn to interrogate and inquire against the grain. For use by anyone doing qualitative research in Education, Critical Approaches to Questions in Qualitative Research teaches that questions are tools for decision making in the research process. With exercises, sample questions, and outlines for planning research, this volume teaches readers to ask questions that confront prevailing assumptions leading to an analysis, dismantling and uncovering of omissions and invisibilities.

Doing Academic Research

A Practical Guide to Research Methods and Analysis

Ted Gournelos

Doing Academic Research is a concise, accessible, and tightly organized overview of the research process in the humanities, social sciences, and business. Rather than a book about research, this is a practical guide to doing research, and guides budding researchers along the process of developing an effective workflow, where to go for help, and how to actually complete the project. It addresses diversity in abilities, interest, discipline, and ways of knowing by focusing not just on the process of conducting any one method in detail, but also the ways in which someone might choose a research method and conduct it successfully.

Global Research Ethics

Case Studies from International Research Contexts

Caren J. Frost, Lisa H. Gren, L. Scott Benson, Margaret Carlson

This book takes a distinctive global approach to looking at applied ethics in research practice. Chapters cover different types (groups) of participants, issues in research, and ways of doing research; then each chapter looks at three exemplar case studies with two analytical commentaries. Case studies include health and social care research, and originate from countries such as Brazil, Chile, South Africa, Botswana, Australia and New Zealand, as well as the US and UK. Suitable for all undergraduates and postgraduates on research methods courses in the social and health sciences.

Proposing Empirical Research

A Guide to the Fundamentals

Mildred L. Patten, Melisa C. Galvan California State University, Northridge, USA

This book provides concrete guidance for students who will be writing proposals for both quantitative and qualitative research. Structured around the stages of the proposal process, each major section is divided into short topics. For each topic, students complete an exercise that leads them toward the goal of preparing a proposal. The model proposals at the end of the book illustrate proposal writing and provide material for classroom discussions. The book is ideal for use in research methods classes where students write a proposal as a term project; thesis/dissertation preparation classes and graduate-level seminars.

Advancing Grounded Theory with Mixed Methods

Elizabeth G. Creamer Virginia Tech, USA

This ground-breaking book introduces an innovative new perspective on mixed method grounded theory (MM-GTM) by conceptualizing it holistically as a distinct, qualitatively driven methodology that appreciates the integrity of each of the methods it embraces. Its principal contribution is to provide a set of research tools to develop or refine a multi-faceted analytical framework in applied fields in the social and behavioral sciences, including nursing. This text is an essential read for all research methods students or early career researchers ambitious to develop a theoretical perspective with qualitative, mixed methods, or evaluation.

Mixed Methods in Criminology

Vicky Heap Sheffield Hallam University, UK, Jaime Waters Sheffield Hallam University, UK

Mixed Methods in Criminology is the first book to bring together the discipline of criminology with the mixed methods research strategy, which has become increasingly prominent within criminological teaching and research. Providing straightforward, easy to follow guidance, this book is the essential student companion for any criminological mixed methods research project. Drawing on the authors' years of experience teaching research methods, it is written in a supportive and encouraging tone that will serve as a reference and guide for those embarking on their adventures 'in the field'.

Mixed Methods Social Network Analysis

Theories and Methodologies in Learning and Education

Edited by Dominik E. Froehlich, Martin Rehm, Bart C. Rienties The Open University, UK.

This book establishes an informed theoretical and methodological basis for research using Mixed Methods approaches to Social Network Analysis. It gives an integrated and cohesive perspective of the benefits and limitations of integrating mixed-methods research with social network analysis and features a wide range of MMSNA topics. These range from theoretical and methodological discussions to empirical demonstrations of how MMSNA may be actually implemented, evaluated, and used to inform theory and practice.

The Routledge Handbook for Advancing Integration in Mixed Methods Research

Edited by John H. Hitchcock, Anthony J. Onwuegbuzie

This handbook reviews different mixed methods and integration ideas with contributions from scholars across the globe, accelerating discussion of mixed and integrated methods across a broad range of disciplines, including education, arts-based analyses, health research, and work in developing nations, as well as via special topics such as psychometrics and media research. The authors encourage and guide integration by updated design thinking, and presentation of analytic models and software.

The Routledge Reviewer's Guide to Mixed Methods Analysis

Edited by Anthony J. Onwuegbuzie, R. Burke Johnson

The Reviewer's Guide for Mixed Methods Research Analysis is designed for evaluators of research manuscripts and proposals in the social and behavioral sciences, and beyond. Its thirty-three uniquely structured chapters cover both traditional and emerging mixed methods data analysis, which neither junior nor veteran reviewers can be expected to know in detail. The book updates readers on each technique's key principles, appropriate usage, underlying assumptions, and limitations. It thereby assists reviewers in offering constructive commentary on works they evaluate, and also serves as an indispensable author's reference for preparing sound research manuscripts and proposals.

2ND EDITION

Phenomenology of Practice

Meaning-Giving Methods in Phenomenological Research and Writing

Max van Manen

Series: Phenomenology of Practice

The first edition of Phenomenology of Practice was Max van Manen's first comprehensive statement of phenomenological thought and research in over a decade. In this second edition of this extensive exploration of phenomenological traditions and methods for the human sciences, he discusses the evolution of the field and the modern application of phenomenology to professional and academic practice and research.

2ND EDITION

How Qualitative Data Analysis Happens

Moving Beyond "Themes Emerged" Volume 2

Edited by Áine M. Humble, M. Elise Radina

The book offers an in-depth look into how qualitative social science researchers studying a wide range of human experiences and dynamics approach their data analyses. This expanded edition includes 13 new chapters from a broad range of disciplines that document the stories about how qualitative data analysis occurred. Chapters for this expanded edition represent a diversity of disciplines (e.g., criminology, family science, education, health, nutrition, sociology, sport psychology) that focus on the human experience and describe a diversity of methodological approaches. These chapters may be used to introduce readers to newer or innovative ways of analysing data.

Pattern Theory

Memory, Interpretation, Understanding, Meaning

Rachel H. Ellaway

Pattern Theory is a groundbreaking exploration of the concept of pattern across a range of disciplines, including science, neuroscience, psychology, and social sciences. This book examines the meaning and implications of pattern, presenting a comprehensive body of theory that unifies concepts of form, order, and regularity and connects them to memory and perception. By challenging existing orthodoxies and linking evidence from brain and mind function, it outlines a robust theoretical framework around pattern searching and matching, pattern activation, and the continuity of pattern nexuses and branes.

Qualitative Inquiry in the Present Tense

Writing a New History

Edited by Norman K. Denzin University of Illinois, USA, Michael D. Giardina Florida State University, USA

Series: International Congress of Qualitative Inquiry Series

In Qualitative Inquiry in the Present Tense contributors engage with epistemological and philosophical questions concerning the conduct of qualitative inquiry in the present moment, and especially as it relates to various understandings of writing in/as inquiry. This evocative new book is a must-read for faculty and students alike who are interested in and engaged with questions and ideas oriented toward understanding our current historical present in qualitative research—a moment in which the field is perpetually in motion or in flux, with new theories, methods, and orientations arising, competing, and even contradicting one another.

A Guide to Argumentative Research Writing and Thinking

Overcoming Challenges

Arnold Wentzel

This book translates the apparent complexities of research writing into everyday ideas, language and skills and will enable novice researchers to start overcoming the major stumbling blocks immediately. This book focuses only on the greatest challenges in research writing, specifically those that supervisors find most difficult to explain to novice researchers. It shows that it is easier to overcome these challenges, not with lists of prescriptions that are difficult to remember while writing, but rather by cultivating an argumentative mindset. It translates all the necessary skills into jargon-free language using a variety of visuals and simple step-by-step procedures.

Crafting Collaborative Research Methodologies

Leaps and Bounds in Interdisciplinary Inquiry

Christina Hee Pedersen

This book demonstrates a number of collaborative, visual and narrative methods that explore the promises and the ethical, relational complexities inherent in collaborative research. The book brings together the fruits of many years of work with interdisciplinary, collaborative research methodologies, showing the challenges and rewards inherent in the practice of real collaborative research. It represents a condensation and a reflexive exploration of knowledge (co)produced through innovation and experimentation in both research and teaching over more than three decades of the author's experience. Suitable for all students of qualitative and collaborative methodology.

A Step-by-Step Guide to Qualitative Data Coding

Philip Adu The National Centre for Academic and Dissertation Excellence, The Chicago School of Professional Psychology, USA

This book provides an easy-to-follow, step-by-step guide to those new to qualitative data coding, through the use of specific, worked examples. It covers creating codes, developing categories and themes, and determining the connections amongst them. It shows how to conduct manual coding using Microsoft Word, Excel and CAQDAS using NVivo. At the end of the coding process, it details how to present findings in such a way that readers understand the characteristics of participants, how the data was coded, and how the themes and their respective meaning and supporting evidence are presented.

Critical Approaches to Questions in Qualitative Research

Raji Swaminathan University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee,
Thalia M. Mulvihill Ball State University

This book provides a comprehensive overview of critical approaches to questions in qualitative research. Written using examples from actual research and course work, this volume helps students and researchers learn to interrogate and inquire against the grain. For use by anyone doing qualitative research in Education, Critical Approaches to Questions in Qualitative Research teaches that questions are tools for decision making in the research process. With exercises, sample questions, and outlines for planning research, this volume teaches readers to ask questions that confront prevailing assumptions leading to an analysis, dismantling and uncovering of omissions and invisibilities.

Black Feminism in Qualitative Inquiry

A Mosaic for Writing Our Daughter's Body

Venus E. Evans-Winters Illinois State University, USA

Series: Futures of Data Analysis in Qualitative Research

This book foregrounds the participation and voices of Black women in qualitative inquiry, both as researcher and research subject, looking particularly at the processes of data collection and analysis. The book questions the ostensible innocence of qualitative inquiry as a space for Black identity and for representations of human experiences and identities. The author blurs the boundaries between research, theory, and practice, centering her experiences as a Black woman scholar interested in the education and other social experiences of Black girls and women.

Fostering Social Justice through Qualitative Inquiry

A Methodological Guide

Edited by Corey W. Johnson, Diana C. Parry

Now in its second edition, Fostering Social Justice Through Qualitative Inquiry, addresses the methods of conducting qualitative research using a social justice paradigm. Qualitative researchers increasingly flock to social justice research to move beyond academic discourse and aid marginalized, oppressed, or less-powerful communities and groups. This established textbook will be suitable for graduate students and scholars in qualitative inquiry in a range of disciplines, including Education and Gender and Sexuality, Communication, Leisure Studies, and across the social sciences.

How to Write Qualitative Research

Marcus B. Weaver-Hightower University of North Dakota, USA

Qualitative research has exploded in popularity in nearly every discipline from the social sciences to health fields to business. While many qualitative textbooks explain how to conduct an interview or analyze fieldnotes, rarely do they give more than a few scant pages to the skill many find most difficult: writing. That's where How to Write Qualitative Research comes in. Using clear prose, helpful examples and lists, it breaks down and explains the most common writing tasks in qualitative research, and each chapter suggests step-by-step how-to approaches writers can use to tackle those tasks.

Making Data in Qualitative Research

Engagements, Ethics, and Entanglements

Laura L. Ellingson Santa Clara University, Patty Sotirin

Ellingson and Sotirin's data engagement model offers a vibrant framework through which data are made rather than found; assembled rather than collected or gathered; and becoming or dynamic rather than static. The authors draw on critical, intersectional perspectives, including feminist, poststructuralist, new materialist, and postqualitative theorizing, to refigure methodological practices of data collection for the contemporary moment. Further, pragmatism, compassion, and joy form a compelling ethical foundation for engaging with qualitative data reflecting the full range of critical, postpositivist, interpretivist, and arts-based research methods.

Qualitative Ethics in Practice

Martin Tolich

Series: Developing Qualitative Inquiry

Neither ethics committees nor qualitative researchers can predict the types of ethical dilemmas that will happen in the field, only that they will routinely occur. In Qualitative Ethics in Practice, a team of fifteen top researchers from various disciplines and nationalities offer ethical strategies unique to qualitative researchers for those "big ethical moments" beyond what can be predicted by ethics committees. Ideally structured for qualitative classes that tackle ethics issues, this book calls for an ethical code unique to the practice of qualitative research and highlights some relevant models and programs being developed that may lead to solutions.

Questions in Qualitative Social Justice Research in Multicultural Contexts

Anna Cohen-Miller, Nettie Boivin

This book provides a framework of questions that enable researchers to engage with and reflect on their multicultural qualitative work. It provides models for doing this by giving an overview of the literature, examining research principles, and case studies from the field. Each chapter provides a detailed description of the topic, sample field research and reflective questions to guide students' own work. Drawing from critical theoretical perspectives in the fields of anthropology and education, the authors highlight the role that power plays in all our interactions. This book is suitable for students and postgraduate researchers of the social sciences.

Situational Analysis in Practice

Mapping Relationalities Across Disciplines

Edited by Adele E. Clarke, Rachel Washburn, Carrie Friese

Situational Analysis (SA) creates analytic maps of social processes and relationships identified using approaches pioneered in grounded theory. Creator of the method, award-winning sociologist Adele E. Clarke, with Rachel Washburn and Carrie Friese, shows how the method can be, and has been, used in a variety of critical qualitative studies. Situational Analysis in Practice will be of interest to undergraduate and graduate students practicing the SA method across the social sciences, including sociology and healthcare amongst other disciplines, as well as research scholars interested in qualitative inquiry.

Speaking Data and Telling Stories

Data Verbalization for Researchers

Martin Glynn Birmingham City University, UK

Speaking Data and Telling Stories examines the interdependent relationship between method (Data Verbalization) and practice (performance). Data Verbalization is about communicating and disseminating research data using spoken word, hip-hop, and theatre. The book will be an invaluable resource for researchers, scholars and related practitioners who want to strengthen their ability to communicate and disseminate research data using live performance / spoken word approaches and techniques. It will also provide guidance for students and researchers wanting to generate wider environmental, social, and cultural impact using research data creatively.

Systematic Methods for Analyzing Culture

A Practical Guide

H.J. François Dengah II, Jeffrey G. Snodgrass, Evan R. Polzer, William Cody Nixon

This book is a practical manual that provides step-by-step instruction for collecting and analyzing cultural data. It offers an early introduction into the suite of tools offered in cultural models analysis, including step-by-step guides and screenshots from MAXQDA, UCINET and Anthonpac. Though based from within anthropological methods training, these methods of cultural data analysis from ethnographic studies can be widely applied within the social sciences, and will be of interest to undergraduate students and students in anthropology, communication studies, sociology and within research methods training.

The Case Study in Social Research

History, Methods and Applications

Barbara Sena

The Case Study in Social Research proposes and develops an innovative, rigorous and up to date methodological clarification of the case study approach in the social sciences to consistently and consciously apply it to different fields of social research. Suitable for upper level undergraduate and postgraduate students in the social sciences, and as a supplementary textbook to a main methods textbook, as well as applied social researchers, and other practitioners and academics that already have grounding in social research methodologies.

The Creative Qualitative Researcher

Writing That Makes Readers Want to Read

Ronald J. Pelias Southern Illinois University, USA

Drawing on three decades of writing and teaching experience, Ron Pelias acts as a guide for students exploring the realms of creative scholarship. Ron traverses disciplines such as communication, performance and gender studies to look at the tropes and constructions of writing in qualitative research and creative disciplines. Through writing examples, prompting readers with questions and supplying an enormous number of try-it-yourself exercises, this book gently and practically shows students the possibilities for creative writing in scholarship, and how to embody their ideological and ethical selves as researchers.

The Handbook of Critical Theoretical Research Methods in Education

Edited by Cheryl E. Matias

This book approaches theory as approaches theory as a method for doing research, rather than as a background framework. The book seeks to address three main questions: How does theory operate as a methodological approach for doing theoretical research? What are the various existing critical theoretical frames that can be utilized as theoretical research methods? How do the insights that theoretical research, rooted in theoretical research methods, contribute understandings of education that non-theoretical research often fails to grasp?

The Lively Science

Remodeling Human Social Research

Michael Agar

This book represents the best of Michael Agar's visionary work in the social sciences - how to make a research question, and answer it with the human in social science. With his usual uncompromising clarity and dry wit, Agar examines why human social science is still very definitely a science, and what that means in practice for researchers. With a new foreword by Michael Brown celebrating Agar's enormous contribution to the methodology, The Lively Science is for all social science researchers, students and qualitative methodologists who believe in putting the 'social' back into social science.

Thinking with Theory in Qualitative Research

Alecia Y. Jackson Appalachian State University, USA,
Lisa A. Mazzei University of Oregon, USA

Thinking with Theory in Qualitative Research, Second Edition demonstrates how to enact various philosophical concepts in practices of inquiry, effectively opening up the process of thought in qualitative studies. In the ten years since the first edition was published, Thinking with Theory has become a vanguard text in the field of postfoundational inquiry for its accessible but thorough introductions to philosophically informed inquiry. This book is for experienced and novice researchers, and students in introductory, general, and advanced qualitative inquiry courses, who may also be first-time readers of philosophy.

An Introduction to Psychometrics and Psychological Assessment

Using, Interpreting and Developing Tests

Colin Cooper

The successor to Cooper's prize-winning book shows how psychological questionnaires and tests can be chosen, administered, scored, interpreted and developed. An evaluative guide to choosing, using, interpreting and developing tests, it provides readers a thorough grasp of the principles (and limitations) of testing, together with the necessary methodological detail. The book is written for students studying psychological assessment or psychometrics, and for researchers and practitioners who use questionnaires to measure personality, cognitive abilities, educational attainment, or mood.

Bayesian Statistics

The Basics

Thomas J. Faulkenberry

Series: The Basics

Bayesian Statistics: The Basics provides a comprehensive yet accessible introduction to Bayesian statistics, specifically tailored for any researcher with an interest in statistical methods. It covers the theoretical foundations of Bayesian inference, contrasting it with classical statistical methods like null hypothesis significance testing. It emphasizes key concepts such as prior and posterior distributions, Bayes' theorem, and the Bayes factor, making them understandable even for readers with minimal mathematical backgrounds. It emphasizes the advantages of Bayesian model comparison over traditional approaches, especially in quantifying evidence for competing hypotheses.

Key Topics in Quantitative Research

Paul Christiansen

Series: BPS Key Topics Series

This book gives an overview of the key topics in quantitative methods. Written by an academic who has specialised in quantitative methods in Psychology across a range of sub disciplines, it highlights how crucial understanding quantitative methods is to understanding research in psychology and beyond. First, it briefly considers the history of quantitative methods in psychology citing some key figures in both psychology and statistics. Following this it will describe how we apply models of scientific investigation to psychology to generate reliable knowledge.

Empirical Political Analysis

Quantitative and Qualitative Research Methods

Richard C. Rich , Craig Leonard Brians , Jarol B. Manheim , Lars Willnat

Empirical Political Analysis introduces readers to the foundations of social science research. Organized around the stages of the research process, this textbook prepares readers to conduct both quantitative and qualitative research, from the formulation of theory through the design of research projects, to the collection of data and the analysis of results. It offers a clear and concise presentation of basic concepts and tools that can be applied in a wide range of research settings, and highlights ethical conduct in the research process. It will help you both to achieve sound results in your own research and to critically evaluate research presented by others.

Measurement, Causation, and Meaning

Keith A. Markus , Denny Borsboom University of Amsterdam

Series: Multivariate Applications Series

This important second edition examines test validity in the behavioral, social, and educational sciences, and explores how measurement is conceived from both classical and modern perspectives as well as the practical challenges of test construction and use. Researchers, practitioners, and policy makers interested in test validity or developing tests appreciate the book's cutting-edge review of test validity. It is also a supplement in graduate or advanced undergraduate courses on test validity, psychometrics, testing or measurement taught in psychology, education, sociology, social work, political science, business, and criminal justice.

The Craft of Political Research

W. Phillips Shively

The Craft of Political Research is a non-technical introduction to research design and analysis in political science, emphasizing the choices we make when we design a research project and analyze its results. The book's approach centers on asking an interesting research question, and then designing inquiry into the question so as to eliminate as many alternative explanations as possible. Emphasizing the internal logic of research methods and the collaborative nature of the research process, the greatest strength of the book is its clarity and the large range of political science examples it provides.

Action Research Communities

Professional Learning, Empowerment, and Improvement Through Collaborative Action Research

Craig A. Mertler Arizona State University, USA

Action Research Communities presents a new perspective on two current and proven educational practices: classroom/school-based action research and professional learning communities. Implementation of one or the other of these practices often results in a variety of possible benefits for the teaching-learning process, for student achievement, and for overall school improvement. While these might seem to be separate, isolated practices, the author has taken the beneficial aspects of each practice and merged them into a cohesive and potentially powerful concept, coined "action research communities."

Data Science in Education Using R

Ryan A. Estrellado, Emily Freer, Joshua M. Rosenberg, Isabella C. Velásquez

This book provides educational analysts and educators with practical tools to start working in data science and data analysis - using the data usefully that is generated by school districts, government agencies, and education businesses. The authors demonstrate the principles of analysis working with R and walkthrough various scenarios and projects to show the outcome of the analysis. The book will teach education professionals to apply programming and statistics to prepare data, transform it, visualize it, and analyze it to answer questions that are pertinent to their daily roles.

Doing Comparative Case Studies

New Designs and Directions

Edited by Frances Vavrus, Lesley Bartlett

This book build on Vavrus and Bartlett's existing, field-defining work in the comparative case study approach (CCS). CCS provides a guide for scholars to balance conflicting expectations and requirements from case study data: how to fully explore the qualitative richness and framing of participant experience vs implementation of a positivist logic more appropriate for quantitative studies, such as the articulation of a hypothesis or the identification and measurement of variables - expected when examining specific or recurring instances of phenomena.

Teaching Information Seeking

Rethinking How We Teach Research in the Information Age

Jon Ostenson Brigham Young University, USA

Teaching Information Seeking redefines how we approach research and information literacy in today's information-rich world, inviting teachers to re-imagine teaching research. The book combines insights from fields such as library and information sciences, journalism, and media literacy to offer fresh strategies and perspectives for guiding students through evolving landscapes of information. While a focus on concepts and skills has long been important in teaching research, this book integrates significant new understandings about the role dispositions play in how well students embrace and utilize skill-based knowledge.

The Elements of Inquiry

Research and Methods for a Quality Dissertation

Peter J. Burke Edgewood College, USA, Sara Jimenez Soffa Edgewood College, USA

The Elements of Inquiry covers the basic guidelines for graduate students doing an investigation or inquiry project. It distills the basic rubrics necessary for teaching research methods and completing research project, and gives the student researcher a list of basic steps to follow to complete any type of inquiry project — including formal research projects such as doctoral dissertations. It was written to support the work of students in an educational leadership doctoral program, but it will also assist the research efforts of college students at any level in any discipline.

The Qualitative Dissertation in Education

A Guide for Integrating Research and Practice

Karri A. Holley, Michael S. Harris Southern Methodist University, USA

This book offers insight into the qualitative dissertation for students enrolled in professional doctorate programs — a population that have specific requirements and resources available to them that traditional methods books often overlook. The book has three objectives: 1) it offers students a dissertation plan that aligns with the unique context of the professional doctorate; 2) it illustrates how skills gained in student's professional careers can benefit the dissertation process; and 3) it suggests a positive and affirming approach to writing productivity, the dissertation, and the degree program as a whole.

Writing Strategies for the Education Dissertation

Diane Bennett Durkin

This book focuses on best practice in writing for the Education dissertation. It concentrates on the processes of writing as thinking. These processes account for the very necessary uncertainty, decision-making, brainstorming, draft writing, and revision experiences when one writes about something new. The book offers strategies for these processes, using writing and drawing on numerous real writing examples to help students invent, think through, write, rethink, and rewrite as they develop and present their innovations. Suitable for all doctoral students of Education and others looking for tips and advice on the best dissertation writing.

Cases and Stories of Transformative Action Research

Five Decades of Collaborative Action and Learning

John A. Bilorusky

Transformative Inquiry Through Action Research in Practice draws on author John Bilorusky's lifetime experiences of conducting action research in real-world settings. The two volumes (this book and A Half Century of Living and Doing Transformative Inquiry Through Action Research) comprehensively lay out the principles of and examine case studies in action research. In showcasing action research in educational, health, governmental and other settings, this book will be suitable for students coming to action research for the first time and for researchers wanting to widen their knowledge and experience of this method in practice.

Interpreting Basic Statistics

A Workbook Based on Excerpts from Journal Articles

Zealure C. Holcomb, Keith S. Cox University of North Carolina, USA, Zealure C. Holcomb

Interpreting Basic Statistics gives students valuable practice in interpreting statistical reporting as it actually appears in peer-reviewed journals. The questions in each exercise are divided into two parts: (1) Factual Questions and (2) Questions for Discussion. The factual questions require careful reading for details, while the discussion questions show that interpreting statistics is more than a mathematical exercise. Each exercise covers a limited number of topics, making it easy to coordinate the exercises with lectures or a traditional statistics textbook.

Advanced and Multivariate Statistical Methods

Practical Application and Interpretation

Craig A. Mertler Arizona State University, USA, Rachel A. Vannatta, Kristina N. LaVenía Bowling Green State University

Ideal for non-math majors, Advanced and Multivariate Statistical Methods teaches students to interpret, present, and write up results for each statistical technique without overemphasizing advanced math. This highly applied approach covers the why, what, when and how of advanced and multivariate statistics in a way that is neither too technical nor too mathematical. Students also learn how to compute each technique using SPSS software. New to the seventh edition: Updated to SPSS 26 All screenshots and images in full colour Fully updated ancillaries including how to videos for both statistical techniques and SPSS walkthroughs

Arts-Based Educational Research and Qualitative Inquiry

Walking the Path

Thalia M. Mulvihill Ball State University, Raji Swaminathan University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee

This book introduces novice researchers to arts-based and arts-informed qualitative research methods. In the last decade, qualitative research has expanded to include new and emergent methods that has led to more novice researchers seeking out arts-based expertise to support their work. Following primarily the strands of visual, narrative and performative inquiry, the book is relevant for all novice qualitative researchers interested in arts based inquiry methods.

Photovoice Research in Education and Beyond

A Practical Guide from Theory to Exhibition

Amanda O. Latz Ball State University, USA

Photovoice Research within Education and Beyond is the first how-to book dedicated exclusively to describing this increasingly popular research methodology. It is a practical guide both for those beginning to use the methodology – which is participatory and arts-based – and those who have been using it for a long time. By situating the methodology within history and describing the future of photovoice, this text provides the necessary context that those wishing to understand the methodology need to fully grasp it. Photovoice is an authentic form of research that puts control in the hands of its subjects, giving them power to document their lives and advocate for better policy.

Research Methods in Performance Studies

Edited by Craig Gingrich-Philbrook Southern Illinois University, USA, Jake Simmons Missouri State University, USA

Research Methods in Performance Studies offers a unique approach for readers to engage with performance research and methods in practice. It examines ways of making performance, researching performance cultures, researching performers who themselves are engaged in research, and conducting research in the context of enduring and emergent themes of performance studies inquiry. Faculty, undergraduate and graduate students, and performance practitioners alike will benefit from the approaches to performance studies research methods articulated by the scholar-artists featured in this collection.

Video Ethnography

David Redmon

Video Ethnography provides a thought-provoking, guided framework to ethnographic filmmaking. It examines how this kind of filmmaking can be a means of approximating, mediating and evoking lived experience. The book will help describe and develop students' sensibility and awareness of this crucial aspect of video ethnography, so they can craft their own video ethnographies with a fully conscious awareness of how certain skilled and attuned approaches to audiovisual techniques can help facilitate the fullest and most dynamic encounters possible. This book is suitable for classes in ethnographic filmmaking, video ethnography and visual anthropology / sociology.

Visual Methods of Inquiry

Images as Research

Kerry Freedman , Richard Siegesmund

Visual Methods of Inquiry: Images as Research presents qualitative researchers in the social sciences with the benefits, applications, and forms of visual research methods. It includes a wide variety of images to illustrate the many uses of visual methods for social research. Students of social science and the visual arts will find this book useful in expanding and improving their methods of inquiry. Artists and researchers already familiar with visual methods will find that this book clarifies the ways the visual works in various research contexts and provides helpful language to describe and explain those methods.
